

English Patriot

EQUALITY FOR THE ENGLISH

Issue #2

www.englishdemocrats.party

Spring 2021

War on the English Pub

Page 5

SARACENS HEAD

FREE
King Alfred
Poster

Centre Pages

"Hands Off Our Heroes!"

See Page 10

BORDER FARCE TIME TO GET A GRIP

FREEDOM

Pay offer insult
mocks nurses

Look them in the eyes and tell them they're only worth an extra
£3.50 a week

●●After all the Two Minute Clapping and heart-string tugging propaganda, the government had the sheer gall to offer nurses less than a fiver a week pay rise.

Whenever the Tories needed a few more Billion to fund their lockdown madness policies, they found all they

BORDER FARCE TIME TO GET A GRIP

●● Instead of guarding the White Cliffs, the 'Border Force' has become a cross-Channel ferry service for illegals. Priti Patel's utterly useless Home Office has failed to launch a single deportation flight for illegal migrants since we officially left the European Union at the beginning of the year.

Record numbers of illegals are sneaking across the Channel in small boats – more than double the number last year.

17 million Brits (overwhelmingly the English) voted for Brexit in the hope that the government would 'take back control' and get a grip on immigration. But although the Boris regime now has the power to kick out illegals, it isn't happening.

Following Brexit, the UK amended its immigration laws, so that migrants are no longer able to claim asylum if they are either intercepted at sea or found to have passed through a safe third country prior to coming to Britain.

Despite this, the Home Office spent the first three months of the year searching for new places to house the new arrivals (at our expense). Not a single one was kicked out.

It also emerged that the former military barracks turned migrant camp in Folkestone, Kent, cost the British taxpayer nearly £1 million to police between its opening last September and March this year.

The EU's Dublin agreement on the return of migrants expired following the end of the 2020 transition period, during which Britain remained an EU member in all but name. Since then, the government has failed to come to an agreement with the European Union over the return of failed asylum seekers or illegal migrants, and is still not turning them back on its own initiative.

Amid the record-breaking illegal boat migration, the Home Office continues to house the law-breaking migrants, some of whom were lethally violent, in hotels all across the country.

The slackening of lockdown measures which got some rough sleepers off the streets means that homeless Brits – many of them army veterans or vulnerable teenagers – are once again forced to live in cardboard boxes in the doorways of bankrupt and boarded up shops.

When millions of us gave Brexit the biggest democratic mandate ever, these were exactly the sort of shameful scandals we were demanding the Powers That Be should fix. Out of control immigration threatens to swamp us in our own country. Yet again, the elite are failing the people. We're lions led by donkeys – and it's time for the English to roar!

Read more on page 3

FREEDOM

Pay offer insult mocks nurses

Look them in the eyes and tell them they're only worth an extra £3.50 a week

●● After all the Two Minute Clapping and heart-string tugging propaganda, the government had the sheer gall to offer nurses less than a fiver a week pay rise.

Whenever the Tories needed a few more Billion to fund their lockdown madness policies, they found all they needed. But they begrudge the nurses a paltry 1%. What a way to treat the people they called 'heroes'!

IMMIGRATION

Secret EU plot to import 50 MILLION Africans

●● The Brussels commissars are stepping up their long-term drive to replace the peoples of Europe. The European Commission's latest stage of the operation is a push to import a staggering 50 million Africans. The excuse is that they are needed to replace the ageing 'native' workforce.

TIME TO GET A GRIP

●● Instead of guarding the White Cliffs, the 'Border Force' has become a cross-Channel ferry service for illegals. Priti Patel's utterly useless Home Office has failed to launch a single deportation flight for illegal migrants since we officially left the European Union at the beginning of the year.

Record numbers of illegals are sneaking across the Channel in small boats – more than double the number last year.

17 million Brits (overwhelmingly the English) voted for Brexit in the hope that the government would 'take back control' and get a grip on immigration. But although the Boris regime now has the power to kick out illegals, it isn't happening.

Following Brexit, the UK amended its immigration laws, so that migrants are no longer able to claim asylum if they are either intercepted at sea or found to have passed through a safe third country prior to coming to Britain.

Despite this, the Home Office spent the first three months of the year searching for new places to house the new arrivals (at our expense). Not a single one was kicked out.

It also emerged that the former military barracks turned migrant camp in Folkestone, Kent, cost the British taxpayer nearly £1 million to police between its opening last September and March this year.

The EU's Dublin agreement on the return of migrants expired following the end of the 2020 transition period, during which Britain remained an EU member in all but name. Since then, the government has failed to come to an agreement with the European Union over the return of failed asylum seekers or illegal migrants, and is still not turning them back on its own initiative.

Amid the record-breaking illegal boat migration, the Home Office continues to house the law-breaking migrants, some of whom were lethally violent, in hotels all across the country.

The slackening of lockdown measures which got some rough sleepers off the streets means that homeless Brits – many of them army veterans or vulnerable teenagers – are once again forced to live in cardboard boxes in the doorways of bankrupt and boarded up shops.

When millions of us gave Brexit the biggest democratic mandate ever, these were exactly the sort of shameful scandals we were demanding the Powers That Be should fix. Out of control immigration threatens to swamp us in our own country. Yet again, the elite are failing the people. We're lions led by donkeys – and it's time for the English to roar!

Read more on page 3

●● After all the Two Minute Clapping and heart-string tugging propaganda, the government had the sheer gall to offer nurses less than a fiver a week pay rise.

Whenever the Tories needed a few more Billion to fund their lockdown madness policies, they found all they needed. But they begrudge the nurses a paltry 1%. What a way to treat the people they called 'heroes'!

IMMIGRATION

Secret EU plot to import 50 MILLION Africans

●● The Brussels commissars are stepping up their long-term drive to replace the peoples of Europe. The European Commission's latest stage of the operation is a push to import a staggering 50 million Africans. The excuse is that they are needed to replace the ageing 'native' workforce.

But don't think Brexit means we'll escape. Boris Johnson is using the same idea to 'justify' his own plan for mass Chinese immigration.

More on page 3

PLANDemic WHO to blame?

●● An in-depth look at the United Nations and the W.H.O – the global socialist cabal whose 'guidelines' created the Coronavirus disaster.

Page 13

LEGAL LANDMARK Case wins protection for English Nationalists

●● After decades of being invisible and victimised, proud English nationalists just secured recognition and protection under the Equality Act. A leading member of the English Democrats has won a famous victory.

Page 14

EDITOR

Guy Fawkes

No Jab for Kids!

●●As we go to print, it looks as though we are being freed from lockdown – at least until the covid profiteers can find a ‘dangerous new mutation’ to give them the excuse to do it all over again.

The elite’s response to the nasty, but hugely over-hyped, virus now defines our time. Their criminal lockdown measures went against the principles of individual freedom and government under the law which are at core of our largely unwritten, but still very real, constitution – and of our English identity.

The key Covid battle this summer looks set to be the struggle to stop a government

Foreign Aid? Charity begins at home!

●●“Charity begins at home”, goes the wise old saying. And it really is way past time for the British government to get a grip on its habit of splurging our taxes on foreign aid programmes while poverty and cuts in essential services are driving millions of our own people into shocking levels of hardship.

There was a time when food banks were overwhelmingly used by the homeless, drug addicts, the mentally ill, military veterans suffering from PTSD and other people stuck at the very bottom of society. But the last few years have seen a shocking increase in reliance on food banks among working families on low wages, and even middle class mortgage payers who just can’t make ends meet.

As the economic catastrophe caused by the UK and global elites’ insane lockdown policies bites, such problems are getting worse by the day. Real, grinding poverty is now a fact of life for millions of decent people in our once prosperous country.

insignificance compared with what’s coming as lockdown bankruptcies smash not just middle class entrepreneurs and working class employment, but government finances as well. Welcome to Bankrupt Britain!

Under these circumstances, it is nothing short of criminal for the Johnson regime to continue to throw away vast sums of tax money (and get even further into debt) on foreign aid handouts to ungrateful Third World dictatorships and global socialist bureaucracies.

Whenever there’s an election in the offing, the Conservatives make lots of noise about slashing foreign aid, but – just as with their talk of cutting Third World immigration – their election pledges are forgotten as soon as their well-padded backsides are once again planted on the seats of power.

Here’s just one example: Despite all the promises and the soaring mountain of lockdown debt, Boris Johnson has agreed to a massive 30%

even more. Britain also tops the list of ‘core voluntary contributions’, which us cost around £50 million every year.

Britain gives the World Health Organisation more even than Bill Gates, who vaccinations in the Third World.

The World Health Organisation was at the centre of pushing the covid-panic that led to the lockdown disaster. If that

•Promoting the killing of babies up until birth as a “human right”

•Working with baby-parts merchants Planned Parenthood

•Forcing doctors to

No Jab for Kids!

●●As we go to print, it looks as though we are being freed from lockdown – at least until the covid profiteers can find a 'dangerous new mutation' to give them the excuse to do it all over again.

The elite's response to the nasty, but hugely over-hyped, virus now defines our time. Their criminal lockdown measures went against the principles of individual freedom and government under the law which are at core of our largely unwritten, but still very real, constitution – and of our English identity.

The key Covid battle this summer looks set to be the struggle to stop a government now completely in the pockets of Big Pharma from forcing all the country's children to have Covid vaccines.

The issue here is VERY simple. Covid is far less dangerous to healthy children than any vaccine. Tried and tested ones, let alone the hastily rushed through, experimental, gene therapy Pfizer vaccine. It is truly a monstrous over-reach of state power to force children to have this. All the actually vulnerable

Foreign Aid? Charity begins at home!

●●"Charity begins at home", goes the wise old saying. And it really is way past time for the British government to get a grip on its habit of splurging our taxes on foreign aid programmes while poverty and cuts in essential services are driving millions of our own people into shocking levels of hardship.

There was a time when food banks were overwhelmingly used by the homeless, drug addicts, the mentally ill, military veterans suffering from PTSD and other people stuck at the very bottom of society. But the last few years have seen a shocking increase in reliance on food banks among working families on low wages, and even middle class mortgage payers who just can't make ends meet.

As the economic catastrophe caused by the UK and global elites' insane lockdown policies bites, such problems are getting worse by the day. Real, grinding poverty is now a fact of life for millions of decent people in our once prosperous country.

Between 2010 and last year, Tory austerity cuts slashed more than £30 billion off spending on welfare payments, housing subsidies and social services. Budgets for policing and defence have also been cut to the bone.

But the cuts we've seen so far are going to pale into insignificance compared with what's coming as lockdown bankruptcies smash not just middle class entrepreneurs and working class employment, but government finances as well. Welcome to Bankrupt Britain!

Under these circumstances, it is nothing short of criminal for the Johnson regime to continue to throw away vast sums of tax money (and get even further into debt) on foreign aid handouts to ungrateful Third World dictatorships and global socialist bureaucracies.

Whenever there's an election in the offing, the Conservatives make lots of noise about slashing foreign aid, but – just as with their talk of cutting Third World immigration – their election pledges are forgotten as soon as their well-padded backsides are once again planted on the seats of power.

Here's just one example: Despite all the promises and the soaring mountain of lockdown debt, Boris Johnson has agreed to a massive 30% increase in UK contributions to the World Health Organisation.

When Donald Trump stopped the USA's subsidy to the global communist WHO, the UK became its biggest donor. Our £463.4 million 'donation' in 2018/19 is set to rise steeply as the WHO bureaucrats demand even more. Britain also tops the list of 'core voluntary contributions', which us cost around £50 million every year.

Britain gives the World Health Organisation more even than Bill Gates, who uses his 'donations' to steer the global body to favour vaccines and other 'medical' supplies produced by companies he controls. Johnson has also now agreed to give a staggering half a billion pounds to help fund the Covax programme, which uses your taxes to fund covid vaccinations in the Third World.

The World Health Organisation was at the centre of pushing the covid-panic that led to the lockdown disaster. If that isn't bad enough, the WHO aggressively pushes abortion worldwide and campaigns for the sexualisation of children and the promotion of gender ideology in classrooms.

Among the programmes that the World Health Organisation spends your taxes on are:

- Promoting the killing of babies up until birth as a "human right"

- Working with baby-parts merchants Planned Parenthood

- Forcing doctors to perform sex reassignment surgery on children

- Teaching masturbation to children as young as four years old

- Promoting homosexuality in primary schools

- Vaccination programmes that have killed and injured huge numbers of victims give them the excuse to do it all over again.

The elite's response to the nasty, but hugely over-hyped, virus now defines our time. Their criminal lockdown measures went against the principles of individual freedom and government under the law which are at core of our largely unwritten, but still very real, constitution – and of our English identity.

The key Covid battle this summer looks set to be the struggle to stop a government now completely in the pockets of Big Pharma from forcing all the country's children to have Covid vaccines.

The issue here is VERY simple. Covid is far less dangerous to healthy children than any vaccine. Tried and tested ones, let alone the hastily rushed through, experimental, gene therapy Pfizer vaccine. It is truly a monstrous over-reach of state power to force children to have this. All the actually vulnerable people – the very old, very sick and very fat – have already been vaccinated. Assuming the jab works, they're all safe now, so why force children to have a totally unnecessary vaccine?

Is the reason: A) Corruption, with Big Pharma pushing for even bigger profits? B) Blind incompetent panic by Boris & Co? C) An elite desire to get us used to obeying even unreasonable orders so as to control us better? Or D) A plot to slash the numbers of the Human Herd through an 'accidental' genetic modification programme?

Whatever the reason, We The People must oppose this madness!

society. But the last few years have seen a shocking increase in reliance on food banks among working families on low wages, and even middle class mortgage payers who just can't make ends meet.

As the economic catastrophe caused by the UK and global elites' insane lockdown policies bites, such problems are getting worse by the day. Real, grinding poverty is now a fact of life for millions of decent people in our once prosperous country.

Between 2010 and last year, Tory austerity cuts slashed more than £30 billion off spending on welfare payments, housing subsidies and social services. Budgets for policing and defence have also been cut to the bone.

But the cuts we've seen so far are going to pale into election in the offing, the Conservatives make lots of noise about slashing foreign aid, but – just as with their talk of cutting Third World immigration – their election pledges are forgotten as soon as their well-padded backsides are once again planted on the seats of power.

Here's just one example: Despite all the promises and the soaring mountain of lockdown debt, Boris Johnson has agreed to a massive 30% increase in UK contributions to the World Health Organisation.

When Donald Trump stopped the USA's subsidy to the global communist WHO, the UK became its biggest donor. Our £463.4 million 'donation' in 2018/19 is set to rise steeply as the WHO bureaucrats demand even more. Britain also tops the list of 'core voluntary contributions', which us cost around £50 million every year.

Britain gives the World Health Organisation more even than Bill Gates, who uses his 'donations' to steer the global body to favour vaccines and other 'medical' supplies produced by companies he controls. Johnson has also now agreed to give a staggering half a billion pounds to help fund the Covax programme, which uses your taxes to fund covid vaccinations in the Third World.

The World Health Organisation was at the centre of pushing the covid-panic that led to the lockdown disaster. If that isn't bad enough, the WHO aggressively pushes abortion worldwide and campaigns for the sexualisation of children and the promotion of gender ideology in classrooms.

Among the programmes that the World Health Organisation spends your taxes on are:

- Promoting the killing of babies up until birth as a "human right"

- Working with baby-parts merchants Planned Parenthood

- Forcing doctors to perform sex reassignment surgery on children

- Teaching masturbation to children as young as four years old

- Promoting homosexuality in primary schools

- Vaccination programmes that have killed and injured huge numbers of victims

Crosses banned, veils allowed - double standards in Sweden

●● If you despair about the criminal insanity of our own elite, you may console yourself with the thought that "it could be worse – we could be in Sweden!"

The latest pointer to the way liberal Sweden is headed emerged when a 15-year-old was forced to take off a small cross for a school photo – while Muslim girls in his class were allowed to keep their veils on.

"I wore a sweater with a collar, my cross hung on the outside. I had a rather long chain and a metal cross with Jesus on it", the boy told the Christian newspaper Dagen.

The photographer ordered him to take the cross off, saying that it would be 'offensive' to include it in the school photo. The boy was shocked, but put the cross in his pocket.

"I'm not the type who likes to quarrel. I gave her a meaningful look, so that she understood that I thought it was strange. I know that those who wear a veil did not have to take it off. Of course, I wish nothing like that would happen. But if I was forced to take off my cross, the same should apply to other religious symbols," the boy explained.

His father spoke out angrily too: "This may seem like a trifle. But ultimately it is about what kind of society we want and how much our religious freedom is worth. Then an event like this becomes serious and a matter of principle."

He noted that the situation would have been completely different if a school photographer had dared to ask a student to take off their Muslim veil or a Jewish Star of David.

"This would be a terrible abuse. But when it is a Christian symbol that has to go, then it doesn't seem so dangerous."

So Sweden slides a little further down the slippery slope to Islamisation and the persecution of Christians. England may not be quite so far gone, but we're not that far behind either.

REPORT ON THE ENGLISH DEMOCRATS' 2020 AGM

PARTY CONFERENCE English Democrats' leader Robin Tilbrook reports on a strange but productive conference that upped our 'Law and Order' credentials

●● With the coronavirus lockdown regulations in force, our Annual General Meeting in October this year saw us limited to a total of just thirty key members.

This made it impractical to do what we had planned, which was to takeover a country house hotel which specialises other guests had threatened to call the police!

Which draws me on to an interesting observation. It was the few white guests apart from ourselves who were scurrying around with masks and furtive looks! All too "timorous cowering beasties"!

Still more disgracefully many of them

the whole Region or local authority. We also get the opportunity to be elected to a position of real power and influence in a way most other elections do not provide.

Much of the same is true of the Police Commissioner Elections, although there is not a booklet in that case. So local

African immigration – it's not an accident

●● Anyone who has travelled through Europe in recent years will have noticed the massive increase in the number of young African men hanging around cafes and bars, or selling trinkets on the streets and beaches. What is less well-known is that this huge population replacement operation was directly encouraged by the European Union.

One of the key factors in this influx was the Africa-EU Partnership, signed in Portugal way back in 2007. Its proposals were backed up the following year by a report by the EU nations, the EU promptly funded a chain of "job centres" to encourage immigration to Europe. The first was in Bamako, capital of Mali, but the taxpayer-funded operation quickly spread all over west and north Africa.

The Eurocrats ignored the fact that it was their liberal economic and social policies which created this 'demographic winter' in the first place.

If they had taken steps to increase the birthrate back then, we would already be seeing a surge in the number of teenagers just a few years off

●● With the coronavirus lockdown regulations in force, our Annual General Meeting in October this year saw us limited to a total of just thirty key members.

This made it impractical to do what we had planned, which was to takeover a country house hotel which specialises in providing conference facilities. We now intend to use this for our Spring Conference.

We therefore returned to the hotel that we have used many times before, the Hilton at Leicester, who were as helpful as the Johnson regime's ludicrous and destructive regulations allowed them to be, but still the atmosphere was quite strange.

Even with our much reduced numbers we still were the major contingent in the hotel, which was largely empty. The usual buffet service in the restaurant was banned and instead we had to be served seated and also in the bar, with a maximum seating together of six.

On the evening after our conference and dinner, although we spread ourselves out over several tables, it was still obvious that we were all in one group; we were told by the bar manager that one of the

other guests had threatened to call the police!

Which draws me on to an interesting observation. It was the few white guests apart from ourselves who were scurrying around with masks and furtive looks! All too "timorous cowering beastsies"!

Still more disgracefully many of them had even got their young and often very young children masked, showing all too clearly that the brave words of Rule Britannia are far too optimistic about the British, as it seems that, given half a chance, they are more than happy to be slaves and do whatever they are told, however bizarre and irrational!

Despite the difficulties we had a productive AGM. We focussed on the electoral challenges and opportunities in May next year, when we are aiming not only to stand in as many Mayoral Elections as we can manage, but also in many Police Commissioner Elections.

Both types of elections use the Supplementary Vote, which is the voting system that enabled us to win the Mayoralty in Doncaster. For standing in the Mayoralty Election we get a full mailshot to every registered elector in the whole Region or local authority. We also get the opportunity to be elected to a position of real power and influence in a way most other elections do not provide.

Much of the same is true of the Police Commissioner Elections, although there is not a booklet in that case. So local activism, starting now, is the vital thing in these.

With our mind on the Police Commissioner Elections we adopted some more resolutions to mandate our Police Commissioners to require Chief Constables to grant gun licenses to all suitable citizens for the purpose of defending their homes - now that most police forces have proved themselves unwilling or unable to protect homeowners!

These commitments, coupled with our previous commitments to getting tough on crime, make the English Democrats easily the foremost party in England of all parties on the issue of Law and Order.

I am looking forward very much to seeing the impact on our Police Commissioner elections vote in May!

●● Anyone who has travelled through Europe in recent years will have noticed the massive increase in the number of young African men hanging around cafes and bars, or selling trinkets on the streets and beaches. What is less well-known is that this huge population replacement operation was directly encouraged by the European Union.

One of the key factors in this influx was the Africa-EU Partnership, signed in Portugal way back in 2007. Its proposals were backed up the following year by a report by the EU statistical agency Eurostat.

This stated that: "Countries with low fertility rates could require a significant number of immigrants over the coming decades if they want to maintain the existing number of people of working age. Having sufficient people of working age is vital for the economy and for tax revenue."

The Eurocrats say that the EU - including Britain - will "need" a staggering 56 million immigrant workers by 2050 to make up for the demographic decline due to falling birth rates and rising death rates across Europe.

Rather than introducing policies to increase the birth-rates of ageing Western nations, the EU promptly funded a chain of "job centres" to encourage immigration to Europe. The first was in Bamako, capital of Mali, but the taxpayer-funded operation quickly spread all over west and north Africa.

The Eurocrats ignored the fact that it was their liberal economic and social policies which created this 'demographic winter' in the first place.

If they had taken steps to increase the birthrate back then, we would already be seeing a surge in the number of teenagers just a few years off the start of their working lives.

The same dishonesty is now being shown by Boris Johnson, as he cites "demographic decline" in support of his plan to invite hundreds of thousands of Hong Kong Chinese to move to Britain - in direct breach of repeated Tory election pledges to get a grip on immigration.

At least most Chinese immigrants work hard, rather than living off benefits, but that won't alter the long-term impact, which will - as intended by the elite - further speed the process that is turning the English and other European nations into minorities in our own homelands.

●●With the coronavirus lockdown regulations in force, our Annual General Meeting in October this year saw us limited to a total of just thirty key members.

This made it impractical to do what we had planned, which was to takeover a country house hotel which specialises in providing conference facilities. We now intend to use this for our Spring Conference.

We therefore returned to the hotel that we have used many times before, the Hilton at Leicester, who were as helpful as the Johnson regime's ludicrous and destructive regulations allowed them to be, but still the atmosphere was quite strange.

Even with our much reduced numbers we still were the major contingent in the hotel, which was largely empty. The usual buffet service in the restaurant was banned and instead we had to be served seated and also in the bar, with a maximum seating together of six.

On the evening after our conference and dinner, although we spread ourselves out over several tables, it was still obvious that we were all in one group; we were told by the bar manager that one of the other guests had threatened to call the police!

Which draws me on to an interesting observation. It was the few white guests apart from ourselves who were scurrying around with masks and furtive looks! All too "timorous cowering beastsies"!

Still more disgracefully many of them had even got their young and often very young children masked, showing all too clearly that the brave words of Rule Britannia are far too optimistic about the British, as it seems that, given half a chance, they are more than happy to be slaves and do whatever they are told, however bizarre and irrational!

Despite the difficulties we had a productive AGM. We focussed on the electoral challenges and opportunities in May next year, when we are aiming not only to stand in as many Mayoral Elections as we can manage, but also in many Police Commissioner Elections.

Both types of elections use the Supplementary Vote, which is the voting system that enabled us to win the Mayoralty in Doncaster. For standing in the Mayoralty Election we get a full mailshot to every registered elector in the whole Region or local authority. We also get the opportunity to be elected to a position of real power and influence in a way most other elections do not provide.

Much of the same is true of the Police Commissioner Elections, although there is not a booklet in that case. So local activism, starting now, is the vital thing in these.

With our mind on the Police Commissioner Elections we adopted some more resolutions to mandate our Police Commissioners to require Chief Constables to grant gun licenses to all suitable citizens for the purpose of defending their homes - now that most police forces have proved themselves unwilling or unable to protect homeowners!

These commitments, coupled with our previous commitments to getting tough on crime, make the English Democrats easily the foremost party in England of all parties on the issue of Law and Order.

I am looking forward very much to seeing the impact on our Police Commissioner elections vote in May!

travelling through Europe in recent years will have noticed the massive increase in the number of young African men hanging around cafes and bars, or selling trinkets on the streets and beaches. What is less well-known is that this huge population replacement operation was directly encouraged by the European Union.

One of the key factors in this influx was the Africa-EU Partnership, signed in Portugal way back in 2007. Its proposals were backed up the following year by a report by the EU statistical agency Eurostat.

This stated that: "Countries with low fertility rates could require a significant number of immigrants over the coming decades if they want to maintain the existing number of people of working age. Having sufficient people of working age is vital for the economy and for tax revenue."

The Eurocrats say that the EU - including Britain - will "need" a staggering 56 million immigrant workers by 2050 to make up for the demographic decline due to falling birth rates and rising death rates across Europe.

Rather than introducing policies to increase the birth-rates of ageing Western Europe in recent years will have noticed the massive increase in the number of young African men hanging around cafes and bars, or selling trinkets on the streets and beaches. What is less well-known is that this huge population replacement operation was directly encouraged by the European Union.

The Eurocrats ignored the fact that it was their liberal economic and social policies which created this 'demographic winter' in the first place.

If they had taken steps to increase the birthrate back then, we would already be seeing a surge in the number of teenagers just a few years off the start of their working lives.

The same dishonesty is now being shown by Boris Johnson, as he cites "demographic decline" in support of his plan to invite hundreds of thousands of Hong Kong Chinese to move to Britain - in direct breach of repeated Tory election pledges to get a grip on immigration.

At least most Chinese immigrants work hard, rather than living off benefits, but that won't alter the long-term impact, which will - as intended by the elite - further speed the process that is turning the English and other European nations into minorities in our own homelands.

CRIME

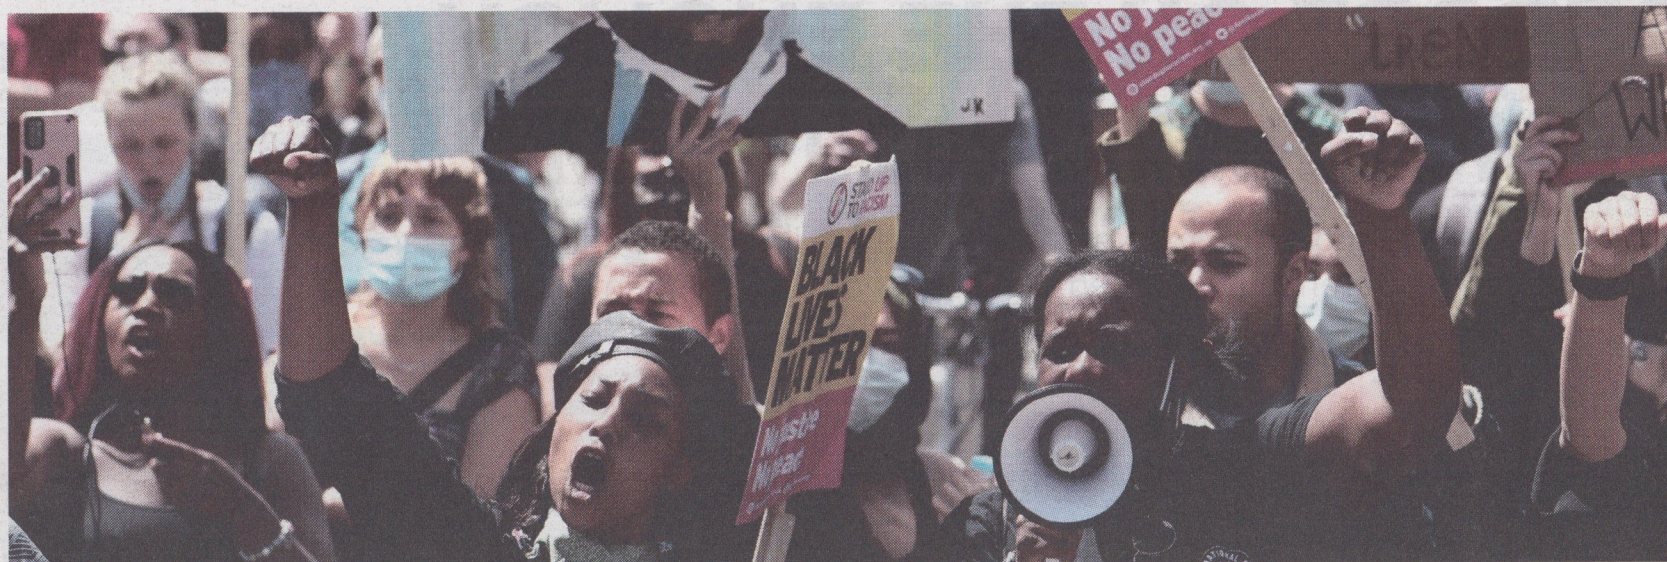

London's murder wave exposes shocking left-wing hypocrisy

●●If Black Lives Matter so much to them, then isn't it time that the media, the liberal elite and their hard-left allies started talking about the epidemic of gang violence and knife-crime among black teenagers and young men?

Almost three quarters of under 25-year-olds killed in London homicides last year were from the Afro-Caribbean community, according to Scotland Yard figures. An estimated 12% of the London population are black, a grouping including black African, Caribbean and other.

Deputy Commissioner Sir Stephen House described the murder of young black men and boys in the capital as 'completely disproportionate'. Sir Stephen told members of the London Assembly's Police and Crime Committee that 'of 149 homicide victims in 2019, 54 of them were under 25.'

'Of those 54, 39 were from the Afro-Caribbean community, which is 72%, which is a completely disproportionate figure if you look at the population of London.'

Not what they pretend. Look who's funding Black Lives Matter

●●The trouble they've caused in England is nothing compared to the mayhem that Black Lives Matter have unleashed on the streets of America, but it's still important for us to understand what this noisy and thoroughly anti-English organisation is really all about.

In addition to more than $33 million in grants to the Black Lives Matter movement from top Democratic Party donor George Soros through his Open Society Foundations, as well as grant-making from the Center for American Progress."

The Center for American Progress was closely linked with corporations such as Northrop Grumman, and Big Pharma companies.

Politico revealed (13/11/2015) more about the liberal globalists funding BLM's divisive and supposedly anti-System campaigns.

"Some of the biggest donors on the left plan to was created in 2005 by a handful of major donors, including billionaire financier George Soros and Taco Bell heir Rob McKay, to build a permanent infrastructure to advance liberal ideas and causes."

In 2015, the DA recommended "its donors step up check writing to a handful of endorsed groups fossil-fuel divestment, an end to private education, a Communist-inspired "universal basic income," and free college for blacks.

Faced with losing support over its most extreme policies, the BLMF recently removed a section of its website calling for a disruption of "the Western-prescribed nuclear family."

among black teenagers and young men?

Almost three quarters of under 25-year-olds killed in London homicides last year were from the Afro-Caribbean community, according to Scotland Yard figures. An estimated 12% of the London population are black, a grouping including black African, Caribbean and other.

Deputy Commissioner Sir Stephen House described the murder of young black men and boys in the capital as 'completely disproportionate'. Sir Stephen told members of the London Assembly's Police and Crime Committee that 'of 149 homicide victims in 2019, 54 of them were under 25'.

'Of those 54, 39 were from the Afro-Caribbean community, which is 72%, which is a completely disproportionate figure if you look at the population of London.'

Met Police figures show some 80% of people included on the force's gangs matrix are Black, Asian and minority ethnic (BAME). The unusually outspoken cop went on to give a broad hint as to the root of the problem, when he said 'the gang situation in London is a disproportionate issue in itself'.

While there is an issue with the racist murders of both black and white victims by young Muslim assailants, the vast majority of the black victims of knife- and gun-crime in London are the victims of black-on-black crime.

While the media, politicians and do-gooders obsess about 'institutional racism' and promote 'white guilt' propaganda, they are failing to

Not what they pretend. Look who's funding Black Lives Matter

●●The trouble they've caused in England is nothing compared to the mayhem that Black Lives Matter have unleashed on the streets of America, but it's still important for us to understand what this noisy and thoroughly anti-English organisation is really all about.

BLM poses as a grass-roots response to unbearable prejudice and racism, but the truth is that it was created to advance the revolutionary ideas of a group of Cultural Marxist LGBTQ+ radicals. And it was funded from the very start by some of the USA's biggest corporations, trying to exploit black discontent for their own sinister agenda.

"Black Lives Matter cashes in with $100 million from liberal foundations" was the headline on a report in the Washington Post on August 16th 2016. This revealed that "groups associated with the BLM Movement have taken in $133 million since 2013. Organizations associated with liberal billionaire George Soros are said to have provided at addition to more than $33 million in grants to the Black Lives Matter movement from top Democratic Party donor George Soros through his Open Society Foundations, as well as grant-making from the Center for American Progress."

The Center for American Progress was closely linked with the Obama regime and has been widely criticised for its slavish support for Saudi Arabia, the world's biggest exporter of the ideology of Islamist terrorism.

This major BLM donor received $45 million in 2014 alone from individuals, foundations, unions, and corporations. Major individual donors include George Soros, Peter Lewis, Steve Bing, and loan sharks Herb and Marion Sandler.

Its corporate donors include Goldman Sachs, Google, Time Warner, Walmart, CitiGroup, Wells Fargo, military-industrial complex

corporations such as Northrop Grumman, and Big Pharma companies.

Politico revealed (13/11/2015) more about the liberal globalists funding BLM's divisive and supposedly anti-System campaigns.

"Some of the biggest donors on the left plan to meet behind closed doors next week in Washington with leaders of the Black Lives Matter movement and their allies to discuss funding the burgeoning protest movement, POLITICO has learned. The meetings are taking place at the annual winter gathering of the Democracy Alliance major liberal donor club, which is expected to draw Democratic financial heavyweights, including Tom Steyer and Paul Egerman.

"The Democracy Alliance

was created in 2005 by a handful of major donors, including billionaire financier George Soros and Taco Bell heir Rob McKay, to build a permanent infrastructure to advance liberal ideas and causes."

In 2015, the DA recommended "its donors step up check writing to a handful of endorsed groups that have supported the Black Lives Matter movement." BLM Movement groups which have received support from the Democracy Alliance include the Black Youth Project 100, the Center for Popular Democracy, the Black Civic Engagement Fund, Color of Change and the Advancement Project.

What sort of 'ideals' is all this corporate elite money promoting? The core organisation of the Black Lives Matter (BLM) movement, is officially called Black Lives Matter Global Network Foundation,

"The BLMF provides grants, movement building resources, and technical assistance to organizations working to advance the leadership and vision of young, Black, queer,

fossil-fuel divestment, an end to private education, a Communist-inspired "universal basic income," and free college for blacks.

Faced with losing support over its most extreme policies, the BLMF recently removed a section of its website calling for a disruption of "the Western-prescribed nuclear family."

"We foster a queer-affirming network. When we gather, we do so with the intention of freeing ourselves from the tight grip of heteronormative thinking, or rather, the belief that all in the world are heterosexual (unless s/he or they disclose otherwise)," said the now censored section.

They continue, however, to call for "reproductive justice," code words for abortion on demand and proclaim "We affirm the lives of Black queer and trans folks, disabled folks, undocumented folks, folks with records, women, and all Black lives along the gender spectrum."

Black Lives Matter is led by its founders: Patrisse Khan-Cullors, an LGBT activist; Alicia Garza, "married" to a white female who identifies as a "transgender male."

men and boys in the capital are 'completely disproportionate'. Sir Stephen told members of the London Assembly's Police and Crime Committee that 'of 149 homicide victims in 2019, 54 of them were under 25'.

'Of those 54, 39 were from the Afro-Caribbean community, which is 72%, which is a completely disproportionate figure if you look at the population of London.'

Met Police figures show some 80% of people included on the force's gangs matrix are Black, Asian and minority ethnic (BAME). The unusually outspoken cop went on to give a broad hint as to the root of the problem, when he said 'the gang situation in London is a disproportionate issue in itself.'

While there is an issue with the racist murders of both black and white victims by young Muslim assailants, the vast majority of the black victims of knife- and gun-crime in London are the victims of black-on-black crime.

While the media, politicians and do-gooders obsess about 'institutional racism' and promote 'white guilt' propaganda, they are failing to get to grips with reality – and thus condemning even more people to fall victim to the curse of violent black-on-black crime.

But, of course, the ruling elite never really cared about black people anyway. They only ever wanted them as cheap labour, and to help mix our own unique identity out of existence.

But that's another story...

LOOK WHO'S RUNNING Black Lives Matter

●●The trouble they've caused in England is nothing compared to the mayhem that Black Lives Matter have unleashed on the streets of America, but it's still important for us to understand what this noisy and thoroughly anti-English organisation is really all about.

BLM poses as a grass-roots response to unbearable prejudice and racism, but the truth is that it was created to advance the revolutionary ideas of a group of Cultural Marxist LGBTQ+ radicals. And it was funded from the very start by some of the USA's biggest corporations, trying to exploit black discontent for their own sinister agenda.

"Black Lives Matter cashes in with $100 million from liberal foundations" was the headline on a report in the Washington Post on August 16th 2016. This revealed that "groups associated with the BLM Movement have taken in $133 million since 2013. Organizations associated with liberal billionaire George Soros are said to have provided at least $33 million to various BLM movement groups since 2016."

"The Ford Foundation and Borealis Philanthropy recently announced the formation of the Black-Led Movement Fund [BLMF], a six-year campaign aimed at raising $100 million for the Movement for Black Lives coalition.

"That funding comes in addition to more than $33 million in grants to the Black Lives Matter movement from top Democratic Party donor George Soros through his Open Society Foundations, as well as grant-making from the Center for American Progress."

The Center for American Progress was closely linked with the Obama regime and has been widely criticised for its slavish support for Saudi Arabia, the world's biggest exporter of the ideology of Islamist terrorism.

This major BLM donor received $45 million in 2014 alone from individuals, foundations, unions, and corporations. Major individual donors include George Soros, Peter Lewis, Steve Bing, and loan sharks Herb and Marion Sandler.

Its corporate donors include Goldman Sachs, Google, Time Warner, Walmart, CitiGroup, Wells Fargo, military-industrial complex

corporations such as Northrop Grumman, and Big Pharma companies.

Politico revealed (13/11/2015) more about the liberal globalists funding BLM's divisive and supposedly anti-System campaigns.

"Some of the biggest donors on the left plan to meet behind closed doors next week in Washington with leaders of the Black Lives Matter movement and their allies to discuss funding the burgeoning protest movement. POLITICO has learned. The meetings are taking place at the annual winter gathering of the Democracy Alliance major liberal donor club, which is expected to draw Democratic financial heavyweights, including Tom Steyer and Paul Egerman.

"The Democracy Alliance

was created in 2005 by a handful of major donors, including billionaire financier George Soros and Taco Bell heir Rob McKay, to build a permanent infrastructure to advance liberal ideas and causes."

In 2015, the DA recommended "its donors step up check writing to a handful of endorsed groups that have supported the Black Lives Matter movement." BLM Movement groups which have received support from the Democracy Alliance include the Black Youth Project 100, the Center for Popular Democracy, the Black Civic Engagement Fund, Color of Change and the Advancement Project.

What sort of 'ideals' is all this corporate elite money promoting? The core organisation of the Black Lives Matter (BLM) movement, is officially called Black Lives Matter Global Network Foundation,

"The BLMF provides grants, movement building resources, and technical assistance to organizations working to advance the leadership and vision of young, Black, queer, feminists and immigrant leaders who are shaping and leading a national conversation about criminalization, policing and race in America," said woke US foundation Borealis announcing yet another big donation.

Also on their radical agenda are calls to defund the police, race-based reparations, voting rights for illegal immigrants, fossil-fuel divestment, an end to private education, a Communist-inspired "universal basic income," and free college for blacks.

Faced with losing support over its most extreme policies, the BLMF recently removed a section of its website calling for a disruption of "the Western-prescribed nuclear family."

"We foster a queer-affirming network. When we gather, we do so with the intention of freeing ourselves from the tight grip of heteronormative thinking, or rather, the belief that all in the world are heterosexual (unless s/he or they disclose otherwise)," said the now censored section.

They continue, however, to call for "reproductive justice," code words for abortion on demand and proclaim "We affirm the lives of Black queer and trans folks, disabled folks, undocumented folks, folks with records, women, and all Black lives along the gender spectrum."

Black Lives Matter is led by its founders: Patrisse Khan-Cullors, an LGBT activist; Alicia Garza, "married" to a white female who identifies as a "transgender male." Opal Tometi, is a Nigerian who grew up in Arizona and is heavily involved with the United Nations.

On top of their obsession with 'gender' lunacy, all of them are hardcore Communist agitators. They are very different to the foolish young people they seek exploit on the streets of our cities, with the help of some of the richest people on the planet!

THE ANSWER TO BIG TECH CENSORSHIP

LIVESTREAMS VIDEOS CHAT AREA & MORE TO COME

MARKEL INTERVIEW

Not so much the Gutter Press. More the Sewer Press!

●● If you thought the CBS Oprah interview with Meghan and Harry – broadcast as Prince Phillip was desperately sick in hospital – was in bad taste, remember the even worse behaviour of the TV network over Princess Diana.

In a rare show of decency, the world's media held back from publishing images of Diana as she lay dying in the back of the crashed car in Paris in 1997. But one muck-raking TV channel broke ranks and released the pictures – despite pleas to consider the feelings of her two young sons and family.

That network was CBS, something which makes Harry's willingness to let his gold-digging wife sell their whining story to the same channel deeply shocking.

Even worse is the fact that the producer

THE NEW HOME OF ENGLISH DEMOCRATS

BIG TECH CENSORSHIP

LIVESTREAMS
VIDEOS
CHAT AREA
& MORE TO COME

THE NEW HOME OF ENGLISH DEMOCRATS

PURGED.TV

www.purged.tv

●● If you thought the CBS Oprah interview with Meghan and Harry – broadcast as Prince Phillip was desperately sick in hospital – was in bad taste, remember the even worse behaviour of the TV network over Princess Diana.

In a rare show of decency, the world's media held back from publishing images of Diana as she lay dying in the back of the crashed car in Paris in 1997. But one muck-raking TV channel broke ranks and released the pictures – despite pleas to consider the feelings of her two young sons and family.

That network was CBS, something which makes Harry's willingness to let his gold-digging wife sell their whining story to the same channel deeply shocking.

Even worse is the fact that the producer responsible for the sick Diana pictures is now head of CBS News. Susan Zirinsky (above) worked on CBS's 48 Hours Investigates when it screened the images of the dying Princess.

Ms Zirinsky takes pride in her lack of decency and scruples. Describing herself in 2002, she said: 'I'm not a girly girl. I'm a hard news harlot at heart.'

Prince Harry had previously spoken of how hard he finds it to come to terms with the behaviour of photographers who took pictures of his injured mother.

Last orders for our pubs – No Accident!

●● They were forced to spend a fortune on ridiculous 'social from the supermarkets, the elite have barely even bothered to home, watching the liberal-left propaganda they pump out on

CHAT AREA
& MORE TO COME

THE NEW HOME OF ENGLISH DEMOCRATS

PURGED.TV

www.purged.tv

Phillip was desperately sick in hospital - was in bad taste, remember the even worse behaviour of the TV network over Princess Diana.

In a rare show of decency, the world's media held back from publishing images of Diana as she lay dying in the back of the crashed car in Paris in 1997. But one muck-raking TV channel broke ranks and released the pictures - despite pleas to consider the feelings of her two young sons and family.

That network was CBS, something which makes Harry's willingness to let his gold-digging wife sell their whining story to the same channel deeply shocking.

Even worse is the fact that the producer responsible for the sick Diana pictures is now head of CBS News. Susan Zirinsky (above) worked on CBS's 48 Hours Investigates when it screened the images of the dying Princess.

Ms Zirinsky takes pride in her lack of decency and scruples. Describing herself in 2002, she said: 'I'm not a girly girl. I'm a hard news harlot at heart!'

Prince Harry had previously spoken of how hard he finds it to come to terms with the behaviour of photographers who took pictures of his injured mother.

Last orders for our pubs – No Accident!

●●They were forced to spend a fortune on ridiculous 'social distancing' measures, custom restricted, and then plunged back into enforced closure. Some managed to get through it, but Johnson's Masked Dictatorship sounded the death knell for thousands of our English pubs.

Even before this Great Reset madness, Britain's pubs had been devastated by decades of unfair treatment at the hands of successive governments and councils. From smoking bans to sky-high business rates, tax hikes to unfair competition from the supermarkets, the elite have barely even bothered to conceal their contempt for this core part of working class culture.

This hostility is partly a result of the elite's lack of empathy with our indigenous traditions and culture, but there's surely more to it than that. Does anyone really think that the politicians, police chiefs and mainstream media are happy at the thought of normal working people having places where we can meet, forge bonds of community and exchange ideas without censorship?

They want us all sat alone at home, watching the liberal-left propaganda they pump out on TV, or chatting with virtual friends on the other side of the country on heavily censored social media platforms.

It's the perfect way to break up our communities. So every pub that closes its doors forever and becomes buy-to-rent flats, an office or a mosque, is another nail in the coffin both of our past and of our children's future.

Those nails are not hammered in by accident. The elite want to get rid of us – before we get rid of them!

“This is how freedom dies” - Top Law Lord slams Johnson

RESISTANCE For a second year running, the return of spring has seen us allowed some freedoms. But watch out for autumn, ‘Covid mutations’ and a return to lockdown

●●● “This is how freedom dies. When societies lose their liberty, it is not usually because some despot has crushed it under his boot. It is because people voluntarily surrendered their liberty out of fear of some external threat.”

With the media and political elites competing to see who could demand even more extreme lockdown rules, intelligent criticism of the Johnson regime’s masked dictatorship was left to some brave NHS whistle-blowers and one of Britain’s most senior judges - Lord Summerson.

The former Supreme Court justice’s stirring words about the government’s coronavirus policies, accusing ministers of deliberately stoking up fear and acting with a ‘cavalier disregard for the limits of their legal powers’.

He warned that British society was becoming ‘totalitarian’ and argued that the government had no power to pass lockdown regulations under the Public Health Act.

‘The sheer scale on which the government has sought to govern by decree, creating new criminal offences, sometimes several times a week on the mere say-so of ministers, is in constitutional terms truly breathtaking’

words’ in any act of parliament.

The government passed the main lockdown regulations under the Public Health Act 1984, which contain a power for the government to make regulations to fight infectious diseases, but it is ‘couched in wholly general terms’. Relying on that act to authorise sweeping control over healthy people’s lives, Summerson said, is inconsistent with the principle of legality in Simms.

His main theme was about the dangers of meekly accepting government by decree even with a national emergency to justify it. He said that the situation contains the even government ministers – must be under the law, are among the greatest gifts that our nation has given the world. So it is no surprise that one of England’s finest living lawyers should make such a powerful intervention on behalf of freedom and the rule of law.

English Democrats leader Robin Tilbrook, also a lawyer, helped campaigners launch a major High Court challenge to lockdown as well. Although blocked by outrageous bending of the rules, the huge support for this action served notice on the Johnson regime that the English public are growing tired of

is the effort of the global elite to ‘reduce your carbon footprint’ by shutting down sections of the economy. So while the return of better weather (which always stops respiratory diseases like flu) and mass vaccination means that we’ve got back some of our freedoms at present – the elite will pounce on any excuse to do it all over again this coming autumn.

The only thing that can stop them is if we DEMAND that the elite restore our real normal. We must unite to reject the destructive tyranny of their so-called ‘Great Reset’.

Neither Covid nor climate

“This is how freedom dies” - Top Law Lord slams Johnson

RESISTANCE For a second year running, the return of spring has seen us allowed some freedoms. But watch out for autumn, ‘Covid mutations’ and a return to lockdown

●● “This is how freedom dies. When societies lose their liberty, it is not usually because some despot has crushed it under his boot. It is because people voluntarily surrendered their liberty out of fear of some external threat.”

With the media and political elites competing to see who could demand even more extreme lockdown rules, intelligent criticism of the Johnson regime’s masked dictatorship was left to some brave NHS whistle-blowers and one of Britain’s most senior judges - Lord Summerson.

The former Supreme Court justice’s stirring words about the death of freedom through fear of external threat came during an online lecture organised by Cambridge University.

The razor-sharp former Law Lord launched a hard-hitting attack on the government’s coronavirus policies, accusing ministers of deliberately stoking up fear and acting with a ‘cavalier disregard for the limits of their legal powers’.

He warned that British society was becoming ‘totalitarian’ and argued that the government had no power to pass lockdown regulations under the Public Health Act.

‘The sheer scale on which the government has sought to govern by decree, creating new criminal offences, sometimes several times a week on the mere say-so of ministers, is in constitutional terms truly breathtaking.’

Summerson argued that lockdown was unlawful. He pointed to the famous case of Ex parte Simms, where the House of Lords held that ‘fundamental rights cannot be overridden by general or ambiguous words’ in any act of parliament.

The government passed the main lockdown regulations under the Public Health Act 1984, which contain a power for the government to make regulations to fight infectious diseases, but it is ‘couched in wholly general terms’. Relying on that act to authorise sweeping control over healthy people’s lives, Summerson said, is inconsistent with the principle of legality in Simms.

His main theme was about the dangers of meekly accepting government by decree even with a national emergency to justify it. He said that the situation contains the ‘authentic ingredients of a totalitarian society’ and ‘marks a move to a more authoritarian model of politics which will outlast the present crisis’.

The English legal system and the central idea that everyone –

even government ministers – must be under the law, are among the greatest gifts that our nation has given the world. So it is no surprise that one of England’s finest living lawyers should make such a powerful intervention on behalf of freedom and the rule of law.

English Democrats leader Robin Tilbrook, also a lawyer, helped campaigners launch a major High Court challenge to lockdown as well. Although blocked by outrageous bending of the rules, the huge support for this action served notice on the Johnson regime that the English public are growing tired of dishonest, corrupt and incompetent government.

Lockdown was never about our health – it was always about their power and wealth.

The real reason for lockdown

is the effort of the global elite to ‘reduce your carbon footprint’ by shutting down sections of the economy. So while the return of better weather (which always stops respiratory diseases like flu) and mass vaccination means that we’ve got back some of our freedoms at present – the elite will pounce on any excuse to do it all over again this coming autumn.

The only thing that can stop them is if we DEMAND that the elite restore our real normal. We must unite to reject the destructive tyranny of their so-called ‘Great Reset’.

Neither Covid nor ‘climate change’ is a legitimate reason to shut down our economy and society, destroying independent businesses and countless lives while the giant corporations and Big Pharma get even richer. Never again!

When societies lose their liberty, it is not usually because some despot has crushed it under his boot. It is because people voluntarily surrendered their liberty out of fear of some external threat."

With the media and political elites competing to see who could demand even more extreme lockdown rules, intelligent criticism of the Johnson regime's masked dictatorship was left to some brave NHS whistle-blowers and one of Britain's most senior judges - Lord Sumption.

The former Supreme Court justice's stirring words about the death of freedom through fear of external threat came during an online lecture organised by Cambridge University.

The razor-sharp former Law Lord launched a hard-hitting attack on the accusing ministers of deliberately stoking up fear and acting with a 'cavalier disregard for the limits of their legal powers'.

He warned that British society was becoming 'totalitarian' and argued that the government had no power to pass lockdown regulations under the Public Health Act.

'The sheer scale on which the government has sought to govern by decree, creating new criminal offences, sometimes several times a week on the mere say-so of ministers, is in constitutional terms truly breathtaking.'

Sumption argued that lockdown was unlawful. He pointed to the famous case of Ex parte Simms, where the House of Lords held that 'fundamental rights cannot be overridden by general or ambiguous

The government passed the main lockdown regulations under the Public Health Act 1984, which contain a power for the government to make regulations to fight infectious diseases, but it is 'couched in wholly general terms'. Relying on that act to authorise sweeping control over healthy people's lives, Sumption said, is inconsistent with the principle of legality in Simms.

His main theme was about the dangers of meekly accepting government by decree even with a national emergency to justify it. He said that the situation contains the 'authentic ingredients of a totalitarian society' and 'marks a move to a more authoritarian model of politics which will outlast the present crisis'.

The English legal system and the central idea that everyone – be under the law, are among the greatest gifts that our nation has given the world. So it is no surprise that one of England's finest living lawyers should make such a powerful intervention on behalf of freedom and the rule of law.

English Democrats leader Robin Tilbrook, also a lawyer, helped campaigners launch a major High Court challenge to lockdown as well. Although blocked by outrageous bending of the rules, the huge support for this action served notice on the Johnson regime that the English public are growing tired of dishonest, corrupt and incompetent government.

Lockdown was never about our health – it was always about their power and wealth.

The real reason for lockdown

reduce your carbon footprint by shutting down sections of the economy. So while the return of better weather (which always stops respiratory diseases like flu) and mass vaccination means that we've got back some of our freedoms at present – the elite will pounce on any excuse to do it all over again this coming autumn.

The only thing that can stop them is if we DEMAND that the elite restore our real normal. We must unite to reject the destructive tyranny of their so-called 'Great Reset'.

Neither Covid nor 'climate change' is a legitimate reason to shut down our economy and society, destroying independent businesses and countless lives while the giant corporations and Big Pharma get even richer. Never again!

"What know they of England?" English Patriot Quiz

●● How much of an English patriot are YOU?

Find out by taking our new quiz to test your knowledge of all things English.

1) Where did King Harold defeat a Viking army shortly before the Battle of Hastings?

- A) York
- B) Elland Road
- C) Stamford Bridge

2. Where was the Flying Scotsman locomotive built in 1924?

- A) Doncaster
- B) Swindon
- C) Darlington

3. General Wolfe was one of England's greatest military commanders. Where did he die as he beat the French?

- A) Quebec
- B) Montreal
- C) Plassey

4. Name the highest peak in England

- A) Scafell Pike
- B) Snowdon
- C) Kimmeridge

5. What was the name of Turner's famous painting of a warship being towed into the sunset to be broken up?

- A) Sunset at Chatham Dock
- B) The Fighting Temeraire
- C) Farewell the Warrior

6. Who wrote A Clockwork Orange?

- A) Jack Lemon
- B) Aldous Huxley
- C) Anthony Burgess

7. How far from the end of play was Johnny Wilkinson's drop goal that beat Australia in 2003?

- A) 9 seconds
- B) 21 seconds
- C) 26 seconds

8. Throughout the 17th century, pirate ships snatched thousands of people from the south west of England. Where were the slavers from?

- A) North Africa
- B) Spain
- C) Turkey

9. Where were most Lancaster Bombers built?

- A) Lancaster
- B) Derby
- C) Chadderton

10. The last (military) invasion of English soil was a raid by John Paul Jones in 1778 during the American Revolutionary War. Where did his force land?

- A) Fleetwood, Lancashire
- B) Whitehaven, Cumbria
- C) Truro, Isles of Scilly

11. Who spoke of England as "this sceptred isle"?

- A) Henry V
- B) John of Gaunt
- C) Elizabeth I

12. Why is 13 regarded as an unlucky number?

- A) There were 13 at The Last Supper
- B) The Knights Templar were arrested on Friday 13th
- C) A year with thirteen full moons caused problems with early calendars

King Alfred – from defeat to victory

HERITAGE The only English king known in history as 'The Great'

●● At one point near the start of his reign he seemed to be a broken man. His armies shattered, his lands occupied by victorious foreigners who hunted him through a marsh which was all that remained of his kingdom. And yet, of all the kings of England, only one is known as 'the Great'. Just how Alfred came to be so honoured is one of England's most remarkable and inspiring stories of courage, determination and leadership.

Alfred was born in 849 A.D., the sixth child of Æthelwulf King of Wessex and his wife, Osburh. With four older brothers, he was never expected to be king, but one-by-one they died or were killed in battle.

By 870 the Danes were rampaging through Wessex itself. The fortunes of war swung to-and-fro. Alfred was credited with playing a key part in a brilliant victory at the Battle of Ashdown, but a string of defeats saw the Saxon resistance crumble. Æthelred died in April 871, and Alfred became King.

While Alfred was at his brother's funeral, the Vikings won two more crushing victories. With no effective army left, Alfred was forced to make peace. Bought off with a large amount of tribute, the Viking army withdrew, but for the

of his personal forces dead, Alfred fled to an isolated fort at Athelney in the marshes of Somerset. The survival of the last free English kingdom now hung by a thread.

A legend, first written down only a hundred years later, tells how the royal fugitive was given shelter by a peasant woman who, unaware of his identity, left him to watch some wheaten cakes she had left cooking on the fire. Preoccupied with the problems of his kingdom, Alfred let the cakes burn and was roundly scolded by the woman upon her return.

From his island stronghold, Alfred sent out guerrilla raiding parties and messengers to rally the local militias from Somerset, Wiltshire and Hampshire.

He called the surviving Saxon fighters to meet him at Egbert's Stone at Whitsun. Alfred and his men won a decisive victory in the Battle of Edington, probably near Westbury in Wiltshire. He pursued the Danes to their stronghold at Chippenham and starved them into submission. One of the terms of the surrender was that Guthrum convert to Christianity.

Under the terms of the Treaty of Wedmore the converted Guthrum was required to leave Wessex and return to East Anglia. That treaty divided up the kingdom of Mercia, the introduction personally. He created alliances with Welsh and Irish princes. Alfred greatly prized learning and established a school at his court to advance his vision of an England in which all freeborn men were literate. English was taught alongside courtly Latin.

By the time of the Reformation, Alfred was seen as a pious Christian ruler who promoted the use of English rather than Latin. Consequently, it was writers of the sixteenth century who gave him his epithet "the Great". The title has been his ever since, with successive generations of English patriots admiring Alfred's love for his country and people, success against barbarism, promotion of education, and establishment of the rule of law.

England's Navy

●● Alfred responded to the Viking threat by creating a naval force to defeat the raiders before they could even land. The royal shipyard was in Hampshire, probably on the River Itchen near

HERITAGE The only English king known in history as 'The Great'

●● At one point near the start of his reign he seemed to be a broken man. His armies shattered, his lands occupied by victorious foreigners who hunted him through a marsh which was all that remained of his kingdom. And yet, of all the kings of England, only one is known as 'the Great'. Just how Alfred came to be so honoured is one of England's most remarkable and inspiring stories of courage, determination and leadership.

Alfred was born in 849 A.D., the sixth child of Æthelwulf King of Wessex and his wife, Osburh. With four older brothers, he was never expected to be king, but one-by-one they died or were killed in battle.

By 870 the Danes were rampaging through Wessex itself. The fortunes of war swung to-and-fro. Alfred was credited with playing a key part in a brilliant victory at the Battle of Ashdown, but a string of defeats saw the Saxon resistance crumble. Æthelred died in April 871, and Alfred became King.

While Alfred was at his brother's funeral, the Vikings won two more crushing victories. With no effective army left, Alfred was forced to make peace. Bought off with a large amount of tribute, the Viking army withdrew, but for the next five years the Danes occupied much of England.

In January 878 the Danes launched a sneak attack on Chippenham, a royal stronghold where Alfred had been staying over Christmas.

Taken by surprise and with most of his personal forces dead, Alfred fled to an isolated fort at Athelney in the marshes of Somerset. The survival of the last free English kingdom now hung by a thread.

A legend, first written down only a hundred years later, tells how the royal fugitive was given shelter by a peasant woman who, unaware of his identity, left him to watch some wheaten cakes she had left cooking on the fire. Preoccupied with the problems of his kingdom, Alfred let the cakes burn and was roundly scolded by the woman upon her return.

From his island stronghold, Alfred sent out guerrilla raiding parties and messengers to rally the local militias from Somerset, Wiltshire and Hampshire.

He called the surviving Saxon fighters to meet him at Egbert's Stone at Whitsun. Alfred and his men won a decisive victory in the Battle of Edington, probably near Westbury in Wiltshire. He pursued the Danes to their stronghold at Chippenham and starved them into submission. One of the terms of the surrender was that Guthrum convert to Christianity.

Under the terms of the Treaty of Wedmore the converted Guthrum was required to leave Wessex and return to East Anglia. That treaty divided up the kingdom of Mercia, with Watling Street, the old Roman road to Chester, forming the boundary between the Saxon west and south and the 'Danelaw' in the east.

Alfred codified ancient and newly created laws in a book with 120 chapters, for which he wrote the introduction personally. He created alliances with Welsh and Irish princes. Alfred greatly prized learning and established a school at his court to advance his vision of an England in which all freeborn men were literate. English was taught alongside courtly Latin.

By the time of the Reformation, Alfred was seen as a pious Christian ruler who promoted the use of English rather than Latin. Consequently, it was writers of the sixteenth century who gave him his epithet "the Great". The title has been his ever since, with successive generations of English patriots admiring Alfred's love for his country and people, success against barbarism, promotion of education, and establishment of the rule of law.

England's Navy

●● Alfred responded to the Viking threat by creating a naval force to defeat the raiders before they could even land. The royal shipyard was in Hampshire, probably on the River Itchen near Southampton. This visionary effort led to Alfred being dubbed 'the father of the Royal Navy'.

The author of the Anglo-Saxon Chronicle related that Alfred's ships were larger, swifter, steadier and rode higher in the water than either Danish or Frisian ships.

By 870 the Danes were rampaging through Wessex itself. The fortunes of war swung to-and-fro. Alfred was credited with playing a key part in a brilliant victory at the Battle of Ashdown, but a string of defeats saw the Saxon resistance crumble. Æthelred died in April 871, and Alfred became King.

While Alfred was at his brother's funeral, the Vikings won two more crushing victories. With no effective army left, Alfred was forced to make peace. Bought off with a large amount of tribute, the Viking army withdrew, but for the next five years the Danes occupied much of England.

In January 878 the Danes launched a sneak attack on Chippenham, a royal stronghold where Alfred had been staying over Christmas.

Taken by surprise and with most

the local militia from Somerset,

Wiltshire and Hampshire. He called the surviving Saxon fighters to meet him at Egbert's Stone at Whitsun. Alfred and his men won a decisive victory in the Battle of Edington, probably near Westbury in Wiltshire. He pursued the Danes to their stronghold at Chippenham and starved them into submission. One of the terms of the surrender was that Guthrum convert to Christianity.

Under the terms of the Treaty of Wedmore the converted Guthrum was required to leave Wessex and return to East Anglia. That treaty divided up the kingdom of Mercia, with Watling Street, the old Roman road to Chester, forming the boundary between the Saxon west and south and the 'Danelaw' in the east.

Alfred codified ancient and newly created laws in a book with 120 chapters, for which he wrote against barbarism, promotion of education, and establishment of the rule of law.

England's Navy

●● Alfred responded to the Viking threat by creating a naval force to defeat the raiders before they could even land. The royal shipyard was in Hampshire, probably on the River Itchen near Southampton. This visionary effort led to Alfred being dubbed 'the father of the Royal Navy'.

The author of the Anglo-Saxon Chronicle related that Alfred's ships were larger, swifter, steadier and rode higher in the water than either Danish or Frisian ships.

Gold Membership

You can really help England and her only Genuine English party by signing up to our exclusive GOLD membership plan. You can start to enjoy the benefits of becoming a GOLD member with a very special introductory price of only £100 TODAY!

- FREE Exclusive Black-Tie Dinner with the Chairman every year at a prestigious venue.
- FREE Exclusive GOLD MEMBER 'St George Sovereign Medal' in a presentation box.
- FREE Exclusive GOLD MEMBER Pin Badge to wear with pride and dignity.
- FREE Exclusive GOLD MEMBERSHIP Card with Key fob
- FREE Complimentary 'Annual Party Reports'
- FREE Complimentary copies of the Party's Magazine, for your friends.

Visit www.englishdemocrats.party for more information

PUBLISHED BY:
ENGLISH FREE CITIZENS
FORUM, BRISTOL,
ENGLAND.

"DEFENDING AND
PROMOTING THE RIGHTS OF THE ENGLISH, TO BE
ENGLISH AND TO HAVE
THIS PROTECTED BY LAW"

King

King Alfred

CMYK

DEFEND OUR HERITAGE!

INTOLERANCE Whenever there's a revolution, the statues of the old order are among the very first things that get destroyed. So Black Lives Matter and Antifa publishing of a 'hit-list' of statues celebrating our English past was also an attack on our English future. We take a look at three of the heroes the left want to 'cancel' as they wage war on England and the English

DEFEND OUR HERITAGE!

INTOLERANCE Whenever there's a revolution, the statues of the old order are among the very first things that get destroyed. So Black Lives Matter and Antifa publishing of a 'hit-list' of statues celebrating our English past was also an attack on our English future. We take a look at three of the heroes the left want to 'cancel' as they wage war on England and the English

●● Sir Francis Drake on Plymouth Hoe was threatened during the first anti-statue protests, but hundreds of local patriots turned out to guard him. The sculpture commemorates Drake's leading role in the defeat of the Spanish Armada invasion fleet in 1588.

●●Sir Francis Drake on Plymouth Hoe was threatened during the first anti-statue protests, but hundreds of local patriots turned out to guard him. The sculpture commemorates Drake's leading role in the defeat of the Spanish Armada invasion fleet in 1588.

●●Robert Clive played a central role in the creation of the British Empire, leading the tiny army that conquered all of India. His statue in Shrewsbury was defended from the leftists by about 50 English patriots.

●●The left particularly hate Robert Baden-Powell, defender of the town of Mafeking during the Boer War and founder of the Boy Scouts. His statue in Poole, Dorset was protected from BLM fanatics by former Boy Scouts.

Hands off our history!

DEMOGRAPHICS The only demonstrations allowed last year were Black Lives Matter protests and attacks on historic statues by far-left fanatics. Expect – and organise to resist – more of the same

●●● Our history is under attack! The culprits may be BLM activists spray-painting memorials and demanding reparations for slavery, National Trust transported in chains to America or Australia for 'crimes' such as trying to feed their children by poaching game on common land which the

that there were always replacements queuing up to take their place.

But it is the recent BLM and liberal elite attacks on Admiral Lord Horatio of the world. And the British Navy, Nelson's navy, was the most effective weapon in the fight against slavery in the history of the world.

- 1865, 1587 men died on the West Africa Squadron, where disease and bloody battles with slave ships were constant threats.

●●● Our history is under attack! The culprits may be BLM activists spray-painting memorials and demanding reparations for slavery, National Trust leftists smearing great historical figures, or left-wing broadcasts and teachers brainwashing children about our 'evil colonial past'. But in every case the message is the same: The British in general, and the English in particular, have to pay for the 'guilt' of our forefathers.

The truth, of course, is not at all as the left and BBC portray it. Slavery was an economic institution, not a racial one. The first slaves sent to the Americas from our islands were royalist POWs from the English Civil War. Later on the victims were often Irish, but poor Scots and English labourers were also forced into indentured servitude.

Huge numbers of our people were transported in chains to America or Australia for 'crimes' such as trying to feed their children by poaching game on common land which the big landowners literally stole – the hidden ethnic cleansing of England and the Scottish Lowlands being every bit as brutal as the later and better known Clearances of the Highlands and Ireland.

And, of course, long after the British Empire abolished slavery for Africans, Britain's industrial poor lived and died for decades in conditions far worse than those endured by most slaves. Because African slaves cost money and were therefore usually looked after; whereas white wage slaves could be worked or starved to death.

Plus, the poverty created in rural communities by the theft of England's common lands meant that there were always replacements queuing up to take their place.

But it is the recent BLM and liberal elite attacks on Admiral Lord Horatio Nelson which provide the best example of how the left are distorting our history. Using a letter now known to be an old forgery, they have portrayed the hero of Trafalgar as a pro-slavery monster, a lie they then compound by accusing the British Empire as a gigantic slave state.

The British Empire did commit crimes. Forcing opium on China as a gigantic war crime. Inventing concentration camps during the Boer War was a gigantic war crime, which led directly to the deaths from disease and malnutrition of more than 20,000 women and children.

But when it comes to African slavery, the British record stands head and shoulders above the rest of the world. And the British Navy, Nelson's navy, was the most effective weapon in the fight against slavery in the history of the world.

The Royal Navy established the West Africa Squadron at substantial expense in 1808 after the Slave Trade Act of 1807 abolished slavery within the British Empire. The squadron's task was to suppress the Atlantic slave trade by patrolling the coast of West Africa. With its home base at Portsmouth, the squadron employed a sixth of all Royal Navy fleet and marines.

Between 1808 and 1860 the West Africa Squadron captured 1,600 slave ships and freed 150,000 Africans. At its most active period the West Africa Squadron cost the exchequer almost 2% of government spending and half of all naval expenditure. Nor was the cost only financial. Between 1830

- 1865, 1587 men died on the West Africa Squadron, where disease and bloody battles with slave ships were constant threats.

For the left and black activists to demand that British taxpayers should fund massive slavery reparations payments is thus as outrageous as claims of inherited 'white guilt' and their attacks on the statues of our historic heroes.

The whole campaign stinks of anti-white racism, laced with the specifically anti-British and anti-English prejudices of the BBC and the rest of the chattering classes. The men commemorated by the statues that grace our streets were not saints, but they are part of our history, and to attack them diminishes us all.

That is why the left do it, and we must resist. Hands off our Heroes! Hands off our Heritage!

Patriotic Lapel Badges - Worn With Pride

●● Our history is under attack! The culprits may be BLM activists spray-painting memorials and demanding reparations for slavery, National Trust leftists smearing great historical figures, or left-wing broadcasts and teachers brainwashing children about our 'evil colonial past'. But in every case the message is the same: The British in general, and the English in particular, have to pay for the 'guilt' of our forefathers.

The truth, of course, is not at all as the left and BBC portray it. Slavery was an economic institution, not a racial one. The first slaves sent to the Americas from our islands were royalist POWs from the English Civil War. Later on the victims were often Irish, but poor Scots and English labourers were also forced into indentured servitude.

Huge numbers of our people were transported in chains to America or Australia for 'crimes' such as trying to feed their children by poaching game on common land which the big landowners literally stole – the hidden ethnic cleansing of England and the Scottish Lowlands being every bit as brutal as the later and better known Clearances of the Highlands and Ireland.

And, of course, long after the British Empire abolished slavery for Africans, Britain's industrial poor lived and died for decades in conditions far worse than those endured by most slaves. Because African slaves cost money and were therefore usually looked after; whereas white wage slaves could be worked or starved to death.

Plus, the poverty created in rural communities by the theft of England's common lands meant that there were always replacements queuing up to take their place.

But it is the recent BLM and liberal elite attacks on Admiral Lord Horatio Nelson which provide the best example of how the left are distorting our history. Using a letter now known to be an old forgery, they have portrayed the hero of Trafalgar as a pro-slavery monster, a lie they then compound by accusing the British Empire as a gigantic slave state.

The British Empire did commit crimes. Forcing opium on China as a gigantic war crime. Inventing concentration camps during the Boer War was a gigantic war crime, which led directly to the deaths from disease and malnutrition of more than 20,000 women and children.

But when it comes to African slavery, the British record stands head and shoulders above the rest of the world. And the British Navy, Nelson's navy, was the most effective weapon in the fight against slavery in the history of the world.

The Royal Navy established the West Africa Squadron at substantial expense in 1808 after the Slave Trade Act of 1807 abolished slavery within the British Empire. The squadron's task was to suppress the Atlantic slave trade by patrolling the coast of West Africa. With its home base at Portsmouth, the squadron employed a sixth of all Royal Navy fleet and marines.

Between 1808 and 1860 the West Africa Squadron captured 1,600 slave ships and freed 150,000 Africans. At its most active period the West Africa Squadron cost the exchequer almost 2% of government spending and half of all naval expenditure. Nor was the cost only financial. Between 1830

- 1865, 1587 men died on the West Africa Squadron, where disease and bloody battles with slave ships were constant threats.

For the left and black activists to demand that British taxpayers should fund massive slavery reparations payments is thus as outrageous as claims of inherited 'white guilt' and their attacks on the statues of our historic heroes.

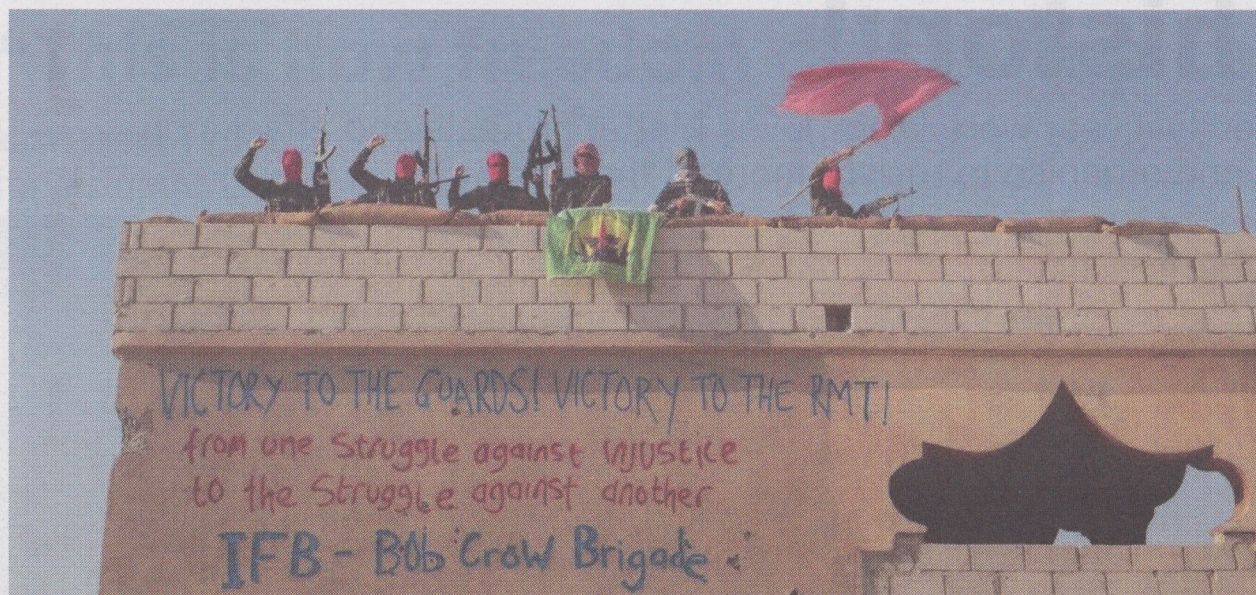

The whole campaign stinks of anti-white racism, laced with the specifically anti-British and anti-English prejudices of the BBC and the rest of the chattering classes. The men commemorated by the statues that grace our streets were not saints, but they are part of our history, and to attack them diminishes us all.

That is why the left do it, and we must resist. Hands off our Heroes! Hands off our Heritage!

Patriotic Lapel Badges - Worn With Pride

View the full range: www.englishdemocrats.party/badges

Warning: Antifa Marxists Train for War

CIVIL WAR Hardcore Communists and anarchists are learning how to fight and win revolutionary war on our streets. Be warned!

●● As post-election violence continues in the USA, far-left extremists from Britain, Ireland and Europe are also training for war. Hundreds of Communist and anarchist fanatics are learning to handle military weapons and getting combat experience while International Brigade in the Spanish Civil War, the IFB was formed in 2014 by the merger of various Kurdish Communist organisations and foreign fighters from Greece, France, Germany, Spain, the USA and the British Isles.

The UK and Irish leftists call

IFB even had an armed LGBTQ wing, the Queer Insurrection and Liberation Army.

While this may sound like a Monty Python or Citizen Smith comedy sketch, the dark truth is that the trained and experienced veterans of this Marxist militia see themselves as the future officers and instructors of violent forces aiming

Why the left turned its back on the white working class

●● There are all sorts of reasons why the liberal elite put down and screw over ordinary working men. It's about helping their big corporate cronies make even bigger profits. It's about securing the votes of noisy 'minorities' by putting them at the front of the queue. It's because they're more worried about some obscure species of ant than they are about our jobs, families and communities.

But even if you combine all those things, it doesn't really

Look at the kind of men who have been thrown on the scrapheap: coal miners; steelworkers; fishermen; farmers; toolmakers; shipbuilders; engineers. Men who earned their living making things, using their muscles as well as their brains. Men with sweat on their brows, dirt on their faces and skills in their strong hands.

Now look at the sort of people behind deindustrialisation: pen pushers; bureaucrats; career politicians; ivory tower academics

VICTORY TO THE GUARDS! VICTORY TO THE RMT!
 from one struggle against injustice to the struggle against another
 IFB - Bob Crow Brigade

Warning: Antifa Marxists Train for War

CIVIL WAR Hardcore Communists and anarchists are learning how to fight and win revolutionary war on our streets. Be warned!

●● As post-election violence continues in the USA, far-left extremists from Britain, Ireland and Europe are also training for war. Hundreds of Communist and anarchist fanatics are learning to handle military weapons and getting combat experience while fighting with leftist Kurdish terrorist organisations in Iraq and northern Syria.

The far-left see the 'Kurdish liberation struggle' as a great opportunity to move from throwing bricks on demonstrations at home to preparations for full-on civil war – first in America and then in countries in Western Europe destabilised by mass immigration and the economic chaos sparked by coronavirus lockdowns.

Thousands of hardcore Marxists have now trained and fought with Kurdish terrorists, mainly in the so-called International Freedom Battalion. Inspired by the Communist volunteers who flocked to join the

International Brigade in the Spanish Civil War, the IFB was formed in 2014 by the merger of various Kurdish Communist organisations and foreign fighters from Greece, France, Germany, Spain, the USA and the British Isles.

The UK and Irish leftists call themselves the Bob Crow Brigade, taking their name from the hard-line leader of the RMT rail union, who died of a heart attack in 2014. Hundreds of Brits have passed through weapons training and combat experience, with many having returned home.

Greek security and intelligence officials have warned that the foreign volunteers "will be trained in guerrilla warfare and then will be able to apply what they have learned in their homeland". The Bob Crow Brigade has sent messages of solidarity to various leftist causes, including striking train guards and the George Soros-funded campaign to bring abortion to Ireland. At one stage the

IFB even had an armed LGBTQ wing, the Queer Insurrection and Liberation Army.

While this may sound like a Monty Python or Citizen Smith comedy sketch, the dark truth is that the trained and experienced veterans of this Marxist militia see themselves as the future officers and instructors of violent forces aiming to bring civil war and then Communist tyranny back home with them.

The failure of government in Britain, the USA and in many EU states to get a grip on this threat is storing up potentially very serious trouble for the future.

working class

●● There are all sorts of reasons why the liberal elite put down and screw over ordinary working men. It's about helping their big corporate cronies make even bigger profits. It's about securing the votes of noisy 'minorities' by putting them at the front of the queue. It's because they're more worried about some obscure species of ant than they are about our jobs, families and communities.

But even if you combine all those things, it doesn't really explain why everything the liberal-left elite have done for at least thirty years has hit and hurt working class men. From economic globalisation to climate change, it's all had the same effect: the destruction of the jobs that used to give men pride and communities identity and backbone.

Look at the kind of men who have been thrown on the scrapheap: coal miners; steelworkers; fishermen; farmers; toolmakers; shipbuilders; engineers. Men who earned their living making things, using their muscles as well as their brains. Men with sweat on their brows, dirt on their faces and skills in their strong hands.

Now look at the sort of people behind deindustrialisation: pen pushers; bureaucrats; career politicians, ivory tower academics, journalists. Soft, desk-bound parasites who never made anything. Is it any wonder they hate the old working class and seize every opportunity to shut down their jobs?

Because the very existence of such real masculinity reminds these feminised excuses for men of everything that they are not!

"What know they of England?"

Quiz Answers From Page 6:

- Q1 c) Stamford Bridge.
- Q2 c) Doncaster.
- Q3 a) Quebec.
- Q4 a) Scafell Pike.
- Q5 b) The Fighting Temeraire (see

- Q10 b) Whitehaven.
- Q11 b) John of Gaunt, in his famous deathbed speech in Shakespeare's classic play Richard III.
- Q12. No-one knows for sure, but each of those reasons is an

CIVIL WAR Hardcore Communists and anarchists are learning how to fight and win revolutionary war on our streets. Be warned!

●● As post-election violence continues in the USA, far-left extremists from Britain, Ireland and Europe are also training for war. Hundreds of Communist and anarchist fanatics are learning to handle military weapons and getting combat experience while fighting with leftist Kurdish terrorist organisations in Iraq and northern Syria.

The far-left see the 'Kurdish liberation struggle' as a great opportunity to move from throwing bricks on demonstrations at home to preparations for full-on civil war – first in America and then in countries in Western Europe destabilised by mass immigration and the economic chaos sparked by coronavirus lockdowns.

Thousands of hardcore Marxists have now trained and fought with Kurdish terrorists, mainly in the so-called International Freedom Battalion. Inspired by the Communist volunteers who flocked to join the

International Brigade in the Spanish Civil War, the IFB was formed in 2014 by the merger of various Kurdish Communist organisations and foreign fighters from Greece, France, Germany, Spain, the USA and the British Isles.

The UK and Irish leftists call themselves the Bob Crow Brigade, taking their name from the hard-line leader of the RMT rail union, who died of a heart attack in 2014. Hundreds of Brits have passed through weapons training and combat experience, with many having returned home.

Greek security and intelligence officials have warned that the foreign volunteers "will be trained in guerrilla warfare and then will be able to apply what they have learned in their homeland". The Bob Crow Brigade has sent messages of solidarity to various leftist causes, including striking train guards and the George Soros-funded campaign to bring abortion to Ireland. At one stage the

IFB even had an armed LGBTQ wing, the Queer Insurrection and Liberation Army.

While this may sound like a Monty Python or Citizen Smith comedy sketch, the dark truth is that the trained and experienced veterans of this Marxist militia see themselves as the future officers and instructors of violent forces aiming to bring civil war and then Communist tyranny back home with them.

The failure of government in Britain, the USA and in many EU states to get a grip on this threat is storing up potentially very serious trouble for the future.

●● There are all sorts of reasons why the liberal elite put down and screw over ordinary working men. It's about helping their big corporate cronies make even bigger profits. It's about securing the votes of noisy 'minorities' by putting them at the front of the queue. It's because they're more worried about some obscure species of ant than they are about our jobs, families and communities.

But even if you combine all those things, it doesn't really explain why everything the liberal-left elite have done for at least thirty years has hit and hurt working class men. From economic globalisation to climate change, it's all had the same effect: the destruction of the jobs that used to give men pride and communities identity and backbone.

Look at the kind of men who have been thrown on the scrapheap: coal miners; steelworkers; fishermen; farmers; toolmakers; shipbuilders; engineers. Men who earned their living making things, using their muscles as well as their brains. Men with sweat on their brows, dirt on their faces and skills in their strong hands.

Now look at the sort of people behind deindustrialisation: pen pushers; bureaucrats; career politicians, ivory tower academics, journalists. Soft, desk-bound parasites who never made anything. Is it any wonder they hate the old working class and seize every opportunity to shut down their jobs?

Because the very existence of such real masculinity reminds these feminised excuses for men of everything that they are not!

"What know they of England?"

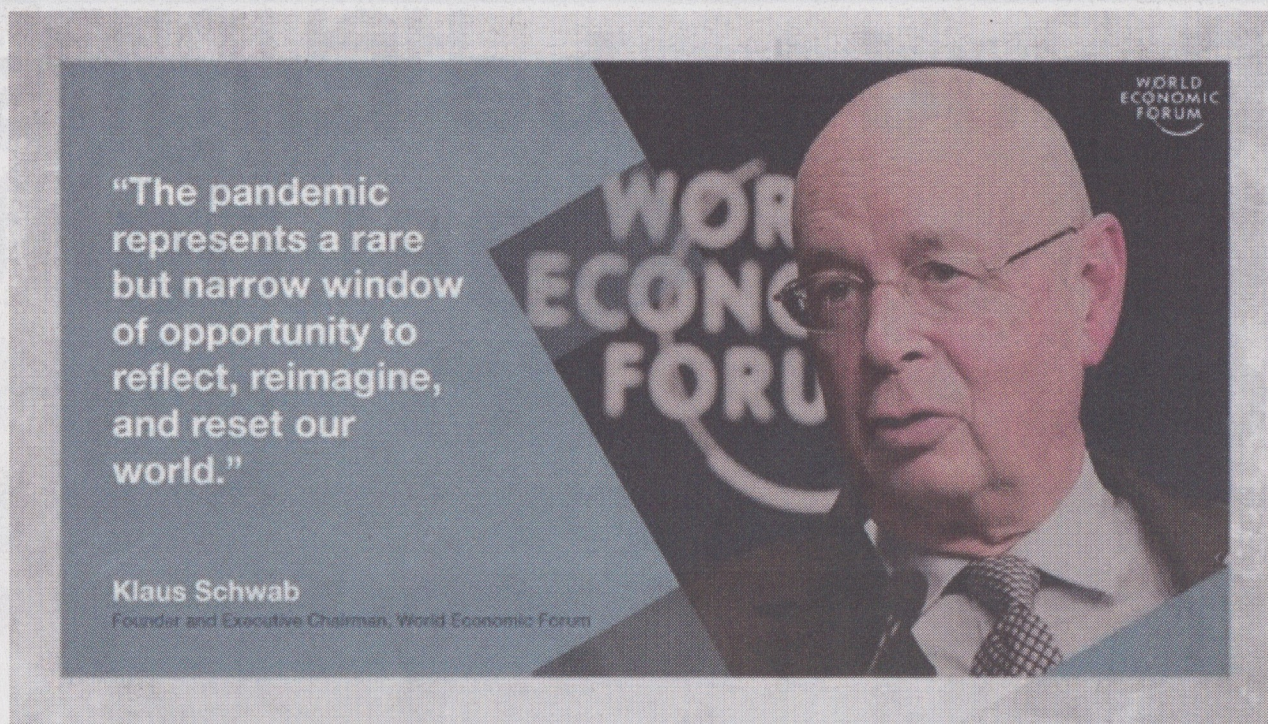

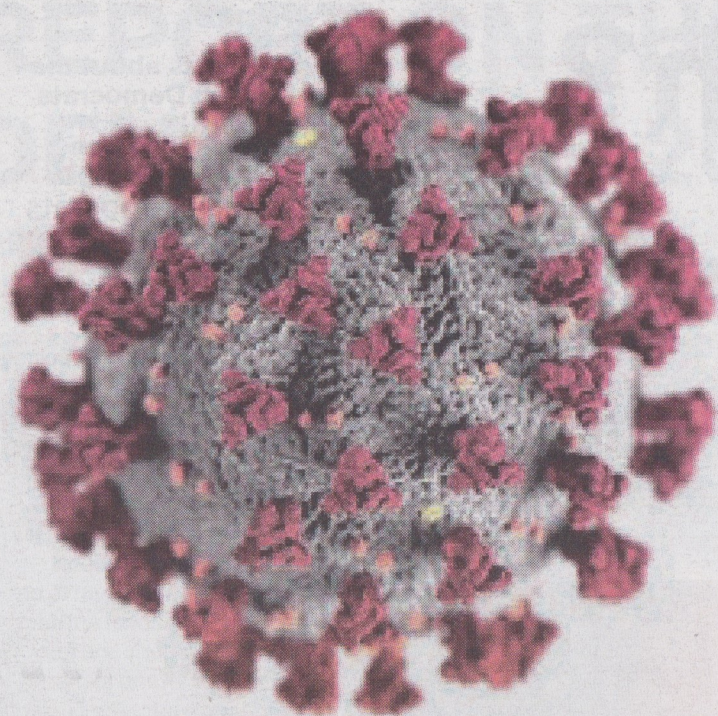

Quiz Answers From Page 6:

- Q1 c) Stamford Bridge.
- Q2 c) Doncaster.
- Q3 a) Quebec.
- Q4 a) Scafell Pike.
- Q5 b) The Fighting Temeraire (see picture).
- Q6 c) Anthony Burgess.
- Q7 c) 26 seconds.
- Q8 a) North Africa.
- Q9 c) Chadderton, but you can have half a point for Oldham.

- Q10 b) Whitehaven.
- Q11 b) John of Gaunt, in his famous deathbed speech in Shakespeare's classic play Richard III.
- Q12. No-one knows for sure, but each of those reasons is an acceptable answer, so even the most recently arrived and most ignorant illegal migrant will have been able to score at least 1 in our test. How's that for tolerance and equality?

What your score tells us all...

- 1 - 2: Try again when you're not off your head on Stella!
- 3 - 6: You need to stop watching the idiot box
- 7 - 8: Well, at least we know you're not French!
- 9 - 12: English & Proud!
- 13 - 14: Hats off to you! Buy yourself a pint!

Covid - WHO let the lie loose?

COVID-19 Don't be fooled by recent back-tracking by the World Health Organisation. This sinister UN propaganda machine is at the forefront of the elite push for the 'Great Reset' that will wreck our lives

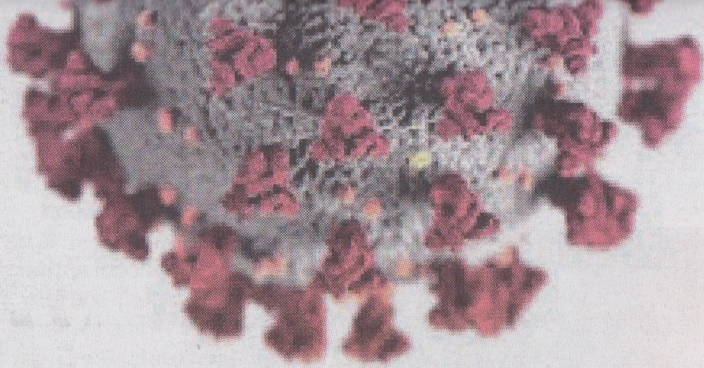

●● "The World Health Organisation has warned that lockdowns are useless and questioned the value of masks. Not even the people who created the Plandemic believe in it anymore". That's the naive response of some covid-realists to the WHO's recent criticism of the Johnson regime. But beware, because the WHO isn't some sort of honest broker in all this.

First we need to understand that the

the excuse for a complete 'Global Reset' which will change our world – primarily by smashing the average standard of living in the developed world.

The economic disaster caused by their lockdown policies will also conveniently cover up the fact that their international bankster cronies had saddled the world with such a vast pile of unrepayable debt that the whole financial system was on the point of collapse already. This way, they can blame a virus, rather than their own greed and corruption.

reflect, reimagine,
and reset our world."

Klaus Schwab

Founder and Executive Chairman, World Economic Forum

Covid - WHO let the lie loose?

COVID-19 Don't be fooled by recent back-tracking by the World Health Organisation. This sinister UN propaganda machine is at the forefront of the elite push for the 'Great Reset' that will wreck our lives

●● "The World Health Organisation has warned that lockdowns are useless and questioned the value of masks. Not even the people who created the Plandemic believe in it anymore". That's the naive response of some covid-realists to the WHO's recent criticism of the Johnson regime. But beware, because the WHO isn't some sort of honest broker in all this.

First, we need to understand that the motor of the entire Scamdemic is the United Nations, together with the closely-linked World Health Organisation and the World Economic Forum.

The United Nations was always planned to evolve into a One World Government, but for all the efforts of its socialist bureaucrats and international bankster allies, progress was slow. Until they hit on the idea of creating a 'man-made climate change emergency' that could be used as the excuse for 'global governance'.

They started in the 1970s by claiming that industrial pollution was about the tip the world into a New Ice Age, but when the climate stubbornly refused to cool down as predicted, they did a U-turn. Once minute we were all going to freeze to death, the next we're going to be cooked alive.

With bent statistics and 'scientists' whose research grants depended on stoking the hysteria, they used the global warming hoax

So the United Nations, acting through its World Health Organisation arm, set about sending elderly 'bed blocking' patients to nursing homes – without testing them for the

the excuse for a complete 'Global Reset' which will change our world – primarily by smashing the average standard of living in the developed world.

The economic disaster caused by their lockdown policies will also conveniently cover up the fact that their international bankster cronies had saddled the world with such a vast pile of unrepayable debt that the whole financial system was on the point of collapse already. This way, they can blame a virus, rather than their own greed and corruption.

As their own publicity material shows, the globalist criminals and their politician puppets now don't even try to hide what they're doing. Even as their lockdown diktats destroy cheap air travel and foreign holidays for the despised masses, they hold international jet-set conferences to plot the further destruction of our 'wasteful economy' (i.e. comfortable lives a little bit like theirs).

They blatantly boast in elite in-house magazines such as The Economist about their plans to exploit the disaster they and their FakeNews media allies have forced on us all.

Dr. Anthony Fauci, the USA's Scaremonger-in-Chief, wrote in the Sept 3rd edition of the medical journal Cell that "combating future pandemics will require rebuilding the infrastructures of human existence," including greater submission to international authority.

"Living in greater harmony with nature will require changes in human behavior as well as other radical changes that may take decades to achieve: rebuilding the infrastructures of human existence, from cities to homes to workplaces. . . . to recreational and gatherings venues," Fauci wrote shamelessly.

So when World Health Organisation flunkies now

Covid - WHO let the lie loose?

COVID-19 Don't be fooled by recent back-tracking by the World Health Organisation. This sinister UN propaganda machine is at the forefront of the elite push for the 'Great Reset' that will wreck our lives

●● "The World Health Organisation has warned that lockdowns are useless and questioned the value of masks. Not even the people who created the Plandemic believe in it anymore". That's the naive response of some covid-realists to the WHO's recent criticism of the Johnson regime. But beware, because the WHO isn't some sort of honest broker in all this.

First, we need to understand that the motor of the entire Scamdemic is the United Nations, together with the closely-linked World Health Organisation and the World Economic Forum.

The United Nations was always planned to evolve into a One World Government, but for all the efforts of its socialist bureaucrats and international bankster allies, progress was slow. Until they hit on the idea of creating a 'man-made climate change emergency' that could be used as the excuse for 'global governance'.

They started in the 1970s by claiming that industrial pollution was about to tip the world into a New Ice Age, but when the climate stubbornly refused to cool down as predicted, they did a U-turn. Once minute we were all going to freeze to death, the next we're going to be cooked alive.

With bent statistics and 'scientists' whose research grants depended on stoking the hysteria, they used the global warming hoax to push many governments into an orgy of deindustrialisation taxes, decommissioning fossil fuel power stations and switching to inefficient alternatives such as highly unreliable wind power.

In Britain's parliament, every MP bar two voted for the Climate Change Act, whose crazy and impossible targets now cost us about £20 Billion every year. But even these changes and extra taxes weren't enough for the globalists.

So the United Nations, acting through its World Health Organisation arm, set about turning a typical new respiratory virus into a 21st century Plague. This was partly done by hysterical propaganda based on the same flawed computer models as the global warming hoax. But they were so desperate to frighten the world into compliance that they then did something far worse:

The World Health Organisation sent emergency guidelines to every government, urging them to clear hospitals for the predicted wave of coronavirus victims by sending elderly 'bed blocking' patients to nursing homes – without testing them for the virus before doing so.

Like any flu or other respiratory virus, COVID-19 is particularly dangerous to the very old, particularly those already suffering from terminal illness or dementia. The wicked policy inevitably produced a wholly predictable spike in (often only slightly early) deaths.

The United Nations globalists and their international corporate allies are now openly plotting to use the crisis that they created as the excuse for a complete 'Global Reset' which will change our world – primarily by smashing the average standard of living in the developed world.

The economic disaster caused by their lockdown policies will also conveniently cover up the fact that their international bankster cronies had saddled the world with such a vast pile of unrepayable debt that the whole financial system was on the point of collapse already. This way, they can blame a virus, rather than their own greed and corruption.

As their own publicity material shows, the globalist criminals and their politician puppets now don't even try to hide what they're doing. Even as their lockdown diktats destroy cheap air travel and foreign holidays for the despised masses, they hold international jet-set conferences to plot the further destruction of our 'wasteful economy' (i.e. comfortable lives a little bit like theirs).

They blatantly boast in elite in-house magazines such as The Economist about their plans to exploit the disaster they and their FakeNews media allies have forced on us all.

Dr. Anthony Fauci, the USA's Scaremonger-in-Chief, wrote in the Sept 3rd edition of the medical journal Cell that "combating future pandemics will require rebuilding the infrastructures of human existence," including greater submission to international authority.

"Living in greater harmony with nature will require changes in human behavior as well as other radical changes that may take decades to achieve: rebuilding the infrastructures of human existence, from cities to homes to workplaces. . . . to recreational and gatherings venues," Fauci wrote shamelessly.

So when World Health Organisation flunkies now admit that lockdowns and masks "won't stop the pandemic", they are not saying that governments should do the sensible thing, i.e. shield the vulnerable and encourage everyone else to catch covid and build up collective immunity as quickly as possible.

Their message is actually that far more 'radical changes' are needed. And chief among their favourite proposals are the further rapid deindustrialisation of the West, massive reductions in our standard of living and – needless to say – mass vaccination. These globalist criminals aren't back-tracking, they're only just getting started!

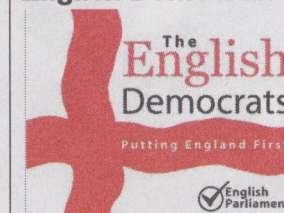

Proud to be English? It's your legal right, says court verdict

LEGAL CHALLENGE After decades of being a 'non-people', the English have won significant legal protection – thanks to the English Democrats and a half-decent judge

POLITICS

Key facts about the English Democrats

●● The English Democrats launched in 2002 and are the only campaigning English nationalist Party. We campaign for a referendum for Independence for England; for St George's Day to be England's National holiday; for Jerusalem to be England's National Anthem; to leave properly and fully the EU; for an end to mass immigration; for the Cross of St George to be flown on all public buildings in England; and we supported a YES vote for Scottish Independence.

The English Democrats are England's answer to the Scottish National Party and to Plaid Cymru.

The English Democrats' greatest electoral successes to date include:- in the 2004 EU election we had 130,056 votes; winning the Directly Elected Executive Mayoralty of Doncaster Metropolitan Borough Council in 2009 and also the 2012 mayoralty referendum; we won the 2012 referendum which gave Salford City an Elected Mayor.

Proud to be English? It's your legal right, says court verdict

LEGAL CHALLENGE After decades of being a 'non-people', the English have won significant legal protection – thanks to the English Democrats and a half-decent judge

●● At last! Being proud to be English is a position protected in law. And it's about time too!

For years, the law protected every 'minority'

'protected characteristic'. In a court case heard in March this year, a judge ruled that English nationalists are protected from discrimination in the same way followers of a religion or in the provisions relating to work section 'extending protection in private clubs to sex, religion or belief, pregnancy and maternity, and gender reassignment'

beliefs are real.

She said: 'Mr Thomas outlined the history of how he had discovered his English identity, from about the age of eight in the context of

Judge Hyde concluded: 'English Nationalism is capable of constituting a philosophical belief under... the Equality Act.' This sets a hugely important precedent, so the English

POLITICS

Key facts about the English Democrats

●● The English Democrats launched in 2002 and are the only campaigning English nationalist Party. We campaign for a referendum for Independence for England; for St George's Day to be England's National holiday; for Jerusalem to be England's National Anthem; to leave properly and fully the EU; for an end to mass immigration; for the Cross of St George to be flown on all public buildings in England; and we supported a YES vote for Scottish Independence.

The English Democrats are England's answer to the Scottish National Party and to Plaid Cymru.

The English Democrats' greatest electoral successes to date include:- in the 2004 EU election we had 130,056 votes; winning the Directly Elected Executive Mayoralty of Doncaster Metropolitan Borough Council in 2009 and also the 2012 mayoralty referendum; we won the 2012 referendum which gave Salford City an Elected Mayor.

In the October 2016 Batley & Spen, Westminster parliamentary, By-election we came second and easily beat all three British national parties. In the 2018 South Yorkshire Mayoral election we had 14,547 votes and

●●At last! Being proud to be English is a position protected in law. And it's about time too!

For years, the law protected every 'minority' you could possibly think of from discrimination and 'hate speech'. Every possible nationality, colour, race, sexuality, religion or philosophy was covered by 'human rights' legislation.

With three glaring exceptions: If you were White or Christian you were theoretically protected, but the law was generally ignored, as being White or Christian makes you guilty in the eyes of the liberal elite. And as for being English – well, for years, we were denied even the most basic recognition.

The elite didn't even want to acknowledge that the English even exist, let alone that we have rights.

But a dramatic and hard-fought English Democrat court challenge has made English Nationalism a

'protected characteristic'. In a court case heard in March this year, a judge ruled that English nationalists are protected from discrimination in the same way followers of a religion or philosophical belief.

Those holding firm political views regarding the culture, identity and politics of England qualify to sue under equality laws, Judge Christiana Hyde said.

The hearing in south London was told Steven Thomas (above) was appointed via a recruitment agency as a consultant to Surrey and Borders NHSTrust in May 2018.

But in July his employment was terminated after the Trust found out about his high-level involvement with the English Democrats.

Mr Thomas argued that he was the victim of discrimination because his support for English nationalism was equivalent to a philosophical belief.

The Equality Act 2010 says

in the provisions relating to work section 'extending protection in private clubs to sex, religion or belief, pregnancy and maternity, and gender reassignment'.

These are called 'protected characteristics' that cannot be used against a person at work.

Mr Thomas's lawyer said: 'To [him], English nationalism is the nationalism that asserts that the English are a nation and promotes the cultural unity of English people.'

'In a general sense, it comprises political and social movements and sentiment inspired by a love for English culture, language and history, and a sense of pride in England and the English people.'

'[His] English nationalism welcomes the inclusion of those who choose to live in England to adopt English identity and with it, allegiance to England.'

In her ruling, Judge Hyde - one of Britain's only black female judges - said she accepted his claim that his beliefs are real.

She said: 'Mr Thomas outlined the history of how he had discovered his English identity, from about the age of eight in the context of supporting a national sporting team.'

'He then described how his sense of his English identity grew as he grew older, influenced, for example by learning about the problems in Ireland.'

'He rejected the three main UK parties as vehicles for his political involvement as they were just that - parties of the whole United Kingdom.'

'He identified that the other nations of the United Kingdom all had nationalist parties i.e. parties just representing that nation. Thus, he selected The English Democrat Party and joined it.'

His belief in English nationalism goes to the heart of how a democracy, in his view, should be run. He has a clear understanding of what his belief entails.

Judge Hyde concluded: 'English Nationalism is capable of constituting a philosophical belief under... the Equality Act.' This sets a hugely important precedent, so the English Democrats have won a massive victory for EVERY proud Englishman and English woman.

Unfortunately, the ruling didn't help Mr Thomas himself, because the judge decided that his entitlement to claim discrimination was 'undermined' by his anti-Muslim views, including his demand to 'Ban the Burqa'. She said his views on Islam conflicted with the fundamental rights of others, so voided his argument.

Despite this, the key judgement making English nationalism a protected characteristic is a major step forward in the campaign for civil rights for the English. In short – a famous English Democrat victory! An effective legal challenge is a vital part of the fight for freedom!

for Scottish Independence.

The English Democrats are England's answer to the Scottish National Party and to Plaid Cymru.

The English Democrats' greatest electoral successes to date include:- in the 2004 EU election we had 130,056 votes; winning the Directly Elected Executive Mayoralty of Doncaster Metropolitan Borough Council in 2009 and also the 2012 mayoralty referendum; we won the 2012 referendum which gave Salford City an Elected Mayor.

In the October 2016 Batley & Spen, Westminster parliamentary, By-election we came second and easily beat all three British national parties. In the 2018 South Yorkshire Mayoral election we had 14,547 votes and saved our deposit and with a minimal campaign budget achieving 12.8% of the First Preference votes in Doncaster.

DEFEND OUR ENGLAND

Join The English
Democrats Today!

DEFEND OUR ENGLAND

Join The English
Democrats Today!

JOIN TODAY BY COMPLETING

THE MEMBERSHIP FORM !

RETURN TO:

THE ENGLISH DEMOCRATS PARTY,
QUIRES GREEN, ONGAR,
ESSEX, ENGLAND,
CM5 0QP

OR

JOIN VIA OUR WEBSITE TODAY:

WWW.ENGLISHDEMOCRATS.PARTY

Membership Form

"Putting England First!"

Yes, I would like to join the English Democrats

To join the English Democrats Party, please complete this form OR join now at www.englishdemocrats.party

Please complete this form in CAPITAL LETTERS

Membership costs £32 annual recurring

Title: Mr. ☐ Mrs. ☐ Miss. ☐ Ms. ☐ Other: Date of Birth / /

First Name: Surname:

House No: Street:

Town: Postcode: Telephone:

Email:

Please debit my card below OR I have enclosed a cheque for £32, payable to "The English Democrats"

Visa ☐ Mastercard ☐ Maestro ☐ AMEX ☐ Issue Number (If Maestro)

Card Number:

Start Date: Expiry Date: Security Code:

www.englishdemocrats.party

0207 242 1066

+

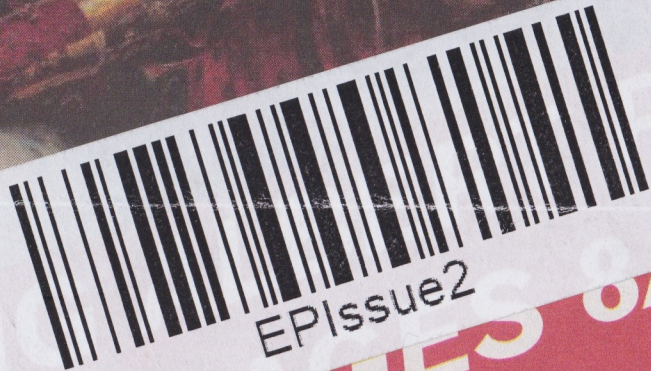

CMYK

+

FREE KING PAGES 8/9 POSTER

EPIssue2

FREE KING
SEE PAGES 879
POSTER

CM K

FREE KING
SEE PAGES 879

POSTER

THE ANSWER TO BIG TECH CENSORSHIP

LIVESTREAMS
VIDEOS
CHAT AREA
& MORE TO COME

THE NEW HOME OF ENGLISH DEMOCRATS

PURGED.TV

www.purged.tv

Last orders for our pubs – No Accident!

●● They were forced to spend a fortune on ridiculous 'social distancing' measures, custom restricted, and then plunged

from the supermarkets, the elite have barely even bothered to conceal their contempt for this core part of working class culture.

home, watching the liberal-left propaganda they pump out on TV, or chatting with virtual friends on the other side of the country

